HARDING CANNOT ATTEMPT RETURN TRIP TO WASHINGTON FOR AT LEAST TEN DAYS

THIRTEEN DIE AS RESULT OF GRADE CRASHES

Pennsylvania Flyer Reaps Harvest of Death at Grade Crossings

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 30.—An investigation today of two accidents in eastern Illinois and western Indiana which resulted in deaths Sunday indicated that two automobiles hit by the Pennsylvania flyer were attempting to beat the train over crossings. Coroners were expected to make complete probes of the accidents. Four were killed at Highland, Ill., and nine deaths occurred at Liggett, west of Terre Haute, when the flyer hit crowded automobiles. The flyer making up lost time resulted from the first accident when second occurred.

At Highland—John Sees, 40; Frank Danka, 30; John Sees, 14; Loyale, 35, all of Highland. At Liggett—Mrs. Velta Bostwick, 41; Raymond Thomas, 21; Edward Bostwick, 16; Clarence Bostwick, infant; May Bostwick, 13; Trilla Bostwick, 13; Etta Bostwick, 3, all of Danville; Mrs. Elmer Slaven, 21, of Terre Haute, and her infant.

Children Escape
IRON MOUNTAIN, Tenn., July 30.—Four persons were killed when the engine of a passenger train stalled on the tracks of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, according to witnesses the accident today. The runaway train was packed with children but those on the outside of the car escaped by jumping out of the car before an express passenger train crashed into the car.

2 Die, 18 Hurt
DES MOINES, Ia., July 30.—Two persons were killed and fifteen injured in the over-turning of an automobile Sunday. The toll of automobile accidents here. The 6 year old daughter of J. W. Pettit was crushed to death when she ran in the path of the automobile.

Montie Lee Fuller, 7, is near death with a fractured skull, suffered when he was struck by an automobile.

One Dead, Four Hurt
In Payroll Robbery

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 30.—One man is dead and four seriously injured as the result of a daring daylight holdup of the limited train on the southbound Laurel Line in which occurred south of the town of Laurel Sunday morning. When seven masked bandits jumped up members of the crew and passengers and made away with $5,000, the payroll of the West Virginia Coal company.

Woman Loses $12,000 Worth Of Diamonds

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—A society Raffles is said to be responsible for the victimizing of Mrs. Gertrude Carr, prominent Hollywood woman, who reported to the police today that she lost $12,000 in diamonds while attending a party at a fashionable resort last night. Shortly after her arrival home early today Mrs. Carr told the police she missed a beaded bag in which she had placed her diamonds. Mrs. Carr stated that she could not name any suspected person.

HUSBAND ADMITS MURDER OF WIFE

Bride of Two Weeks Slain in Scuffle for Revolver In Family Row

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 30.—Patrick Coyne, legless railroad man, of Porty Perry, near here, today cleared the mystery surrounding the death of his girl bride, two weeks ago. Coyne confessed at noon to Chief of County Detectives Robert H. Braum that his wife was shot while they were scuffling for possession of a revolver, after Coyne had repudiated her for staying in bed and "neglecting" him while he "worked hard" to support her. He said he washed her body, put her to bed, went to work, and fell under a railroad train, which cut off his legs. He said he did not attempt suicide. He declared he was greatly excited, worried and nervous at the time.

Axe for Lieutenant L. A. Police, Report

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 30.—Creating another sensation in the police shakeup launched Saturday when chief of police L. D. Oaker, dismissed Captain R. L. Heath, commander of Central Station, a police lieutenant was scheduled to be ousted today, according to authentic reports. The police department buzzed with excitement over this reported new development, which it was said would be accompanied by a general shakeup.

Sugar Prices Slashed To $8.50 Per 100 Lb.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 30.—Following the trend of the New York market, sugar prices were reduced by San Francisco refiners today 50 cents per 100 pounds, making the new basis price $8.50 per 100 for refined sugar.

TROOPS HALT COMMUNIST OUTBREAK

Red Demonstrations Are Held Within Bounds by Big Military Force

BULLETIN
LONDON, July 30.—Resignation of the German cabinet of Chancellor Cuno is certain, said a Central News Dispatch from Berlin this evening.

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
BERLIN, July 30.—The Red demonstrations throughout Germany were everywhere kept within bounds by the vigorous military preparations and the pleadings of the government, and today the whole nation breathed easier. But, while the Communists failed to participate, the threat of civil war is not yet removed. However, the government has made promises of relief measures to lighten the distress of the people.

Only one serious outbreak was reported. One man was killed outright and another fatally wounded at Neue Ruppen when an attempt was made to storm the jail. Quiet prevailed throughout the occupied regions. Concentrations of police and troops converted what might have been a catastrophe into a comparatively bloodless demonstration. In Berlin, the Communists held their meetings indoors. In Dresden, the Saxons conducted anti-Fascist parades but no serious clashes took place.

Glendale Woman Loses Brothers by Drowning

A telegram received here late Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hanan, 604 East Colorado street, told of the death of two brothers of Mrs. Hanan, Hal and Ray Fry, in the lake close to their home at Osakis, Minn., on Friday, July 27, 1923. No details of the accident were contained in the telegram.

Later telegrams stated that the two brothers were sailing in Verne Fry's launch when it capsized. Verne Fry was saved.

Hal Fry, who was aged 28, had been a resident of Glendale and at one time conducted a cigar stand in the Pacific Electric depot building at the corner of Brand and Broadway, later engaging in the taxi business. He had been visiting his relatives in the east and intended to bring his brother, Ray, 38, back to Glendale with him on his return. Besides his sister, Mrs. Hanan of Glendale, another sister, Mrs. L. O. Knotts, resides at Huntington Beach, and three brothers, Verne, Claud and Cole, live in Minnesota.

Twin City Accidents Slay Three, Injure 14

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 30.—Three killed and fourteen injured were the motor mishaps in and near Minneapolis and St. Paul. The dead are: Fred Bluestone, killed when he was pinned beneath an overturned automobile, wrecked while riding four miles from St. Paul Sunday night; Jack Loveland, killed when he was struck by a car while crossing a street in downtown St. Paul; Nels Ronnigal, 48, killed near Rice Lake, Minneapolis, when an automobile he was driving left the road and overturned in a ditch.

'America First' to Be Johnson's Battle Cry

WASHINGTON, July 30.—"America First," is the slogan which Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, of California is going to carry to the country in his fight against President Harding's World Court and all foreign alliances. Asked today "What is wrong with Europe?" Johnson replied: "There is something wrong with Europe, I know, but I am more interested in what is wrong with the United States. I am for America, first."

CHARACTERISTIC POSE

This picture, taken of President Harding on his present trip, shows him in a characteristic speaking pose. The picture shows his worn face. The long strain of his tour, the ptomaine poisoning and the effects of the medicines all combine to make the president a very sick man, according to dispatches from San Francisco.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE FAILS TO REGAIN HIS STRENGTH

Undergoes Severe Strain In Last Forty Days And Unable to Recover Quickly When Stricken With Ptomaine Poisoning

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Warren G. Harding's illness has become so serious that he cannot, with safety, continue his tour of the states and insular possessions of the United States. This was as far as his physicians would commit themselves early today on his condition. His condition is so serious, (Continued on page 5)

Doctors Issue Bulletin On Patient's Condition

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—At 11 o'clock this morning President Harding's physicians issued the following bulletin on his condition: "The president had a fairly comfortable night with several hours' sleep. His temperature at 9 a. m. was 101, pulse 118, respiration 33. "The abdominal symptoms following the digestive disturbance which he experienced while on the boat are now localized in the gall and the bladder region. "There are no peritoneal symptoms; the lungs are clear. The white blood cells number 10,800 with 82 per cent polymorphonuclears. "The kidneys are functioning satisfactorily and there are no disturbances of the nervous system, except those associated with fatigue. While his condition is acute he has temporarily overstrained his cardiovascular system by carrying on his speaking engagements while ill. It will be necessary for him to have complete rest during the period of his acute symptoms. (Signed) "C. E. SAWYER, "RAY LYMAN WILBUR, "C. M. COOPER, "J. T. BOONE, "HUBERT WORK."

Stripped of its technical phraseology, this statement coming after two medical consultations was looked upon as reporting "fairly satisfactory" progress in the president's condition.

DOCTORS DESCRIBE SYMPTOMS AS BEING ACUTE BUT INDICATE OPTIMISM; PATIENT CONTINUES TO REMAIN IN SECLUSION

Attack Of Intestinal Disorder And Exhaustion Of Journey Weakens President So That Remainder Of Long Tour Cannot Be Taken, Decision

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 30.—It will require ten days, possibly two weeks, before President Harding has sufficiently recovered from his combined attack of intestinal disorder and exhaustion to attempt the long train journey back to Washington, members of his party said today. All plans for the president's party were set upon this basis of calculation this morning.

Early reports from the president's bedside this morning, were NOT encouraging. He passed a restless night, sleeping intermittently, it was said. He was able, however, to take some slight liquid nourishment. The physicians, prior to the promise of the "bulletin," refused to make any statement concerning Mr. Harding's condition. Thousands of telegrams began to pour in on members of the official party from all parts of the country, the senders seeking information about the president's condition.

Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer, the president's personal physician, Dr. Joel T. Boone, Jr., White House physician, Ray Lyman Wilbur, Dr. Charles M. Cooper and Dr. Hubert M. Work, who were in consultation on the president's case during the night, and who spent the remainder of the night in close call, again went into consultation today.

The bulletin said the president had passed a fairly comfortable night; that the abdominal symptoms following the digestive disturbance experienced while on the boat are now localized in the gall and the bladder region; that the kidneys are functioning satisfactorily and that there are no disturbances of the nervous system. The bulletin is taken to mean "fairly satisfactory" progress in the patient's condition.

The physician's bulletin was issued after the consultants had been in session for about an hour and a half and after there had been considerable discussion as to its wording. It was rewritten several times. All of the physicians declined to add anything to the statement or to comment generally upon Mr. Harding's condition this morning, but there was an unmistakable attitude of optimism apparent.

While his symptoms and conditions were described as being "acute," this was not looked upon as being especially alarming, the severity of the president's ptomaine attack, according to medical men, would leave a trail of symptoms. The fact that lungs and kidneys are functioning satisfactorily and that there are no disturbances of the nervous system, "except those associated with fatigue," was regarded as particularly gratifying.

Except for a few members of his official party, the president spent the day in absolute seclusion in his suite on the eighth floor. He read the morning papers in bed. Mrs. Harding was in and out of the presidential chamber throughout the day. A trained nurse was constantly in the sick room, but Mrs. Harding had supervision of the general affairs of the sick room. She appeared fresh, despite the lack of some sleep. Secretary of Commerce Hoover saw the president for a few minutes as did a few others of the presidential party, but there was no attempt to "talk business." The president himself, was (Continued on page 5)

Officials Mystified At Jap Ship Mission

NOME, Alaska, July 30.—Bent on an unknown mission, which had mystified officials here, the imperial Japanese government ship Hakuo Maru was at anchor in the harbor here today. The vessel has a gross tonnage of 332 tons and a crew of thirty-one, and belongs to the Nipponese department of agriculture and commerce.

Stocks Drop at News Of Harding's Illness

NEW YORK, July 30.—Wall street traders attributed a depression in the stock market today to reports of President Harding's serious illness. A number of issues reached new levels for the year, notably United States Steel common and Great Northern and Northern Pacific shares.

Harding's Aunt Not Going to Bay City

ANAHEIM, Cal., July 30.—Mrs. Charity Remsburg of Santa Ana, after listening to the reading of the 11 a. m. bulletin over the telephone, prepared by consulting physicians attending her brother, President Harding, and the running story sent out of San Francisco by the International News Service, told a representative of the service this afternoon: "I want to thank you very much for calling me with this news. I am very much disappointed, we all are, that he cannot come and make us a visit. However, I'm glad that the bulletin states that he is improving. I had planned to go to San Francisco, but since you have read this, I do not think that it will be necessary." Mrs. Remsburg had made elaborate preparations for entertaining her brother during the brief stay allotted to him at Anaheim.

HALT PLANS FOR HARDING'S VISIT

Chamber of Commerce Cancels All Arrangements For Friday, Aug. 3

Instructions authorizing the cancellation of all the preparations that were under way for the reception of President Harding and his party here on Friday, August 3, were issued this morning by Secretary E. F. Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, following the receipt of the news of the president's serious illness and the abandonment of his trip to southern California. Heads of all the committees engaged in the plans to welcome the president have halted their work, expressing their sincere regret at the unfortunate termination of the arrangements and their hope that the chief executive may, at some later date, carry out the plans that have been interrupted.

Leaves for Palo Alto

SOCIAL EVENTS

Tell of Wedding

Announcement is made of the marriage of John M. Lang of 336 West Wilson avenue, and Miss Agnes Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nelson of Los Angeles, at a ceremony taking place Wednesday, July 15, 1923, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the officiant, Rev. Carl T. Scholz, at 4567 West Seventeenth street, Los Angeles.

Those present at the ceremony were the bride's parents and brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Z. N. Nelson.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lang left via automobile for a trip through Northern California. They visited Santa Barbara, Pismo Beach, Pacific Grove and San Francisco, returning Saturday night to Glendale, where they will make their permanent home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lang have known each other since they were children and attended the same grammar school and high school. Mr. Lang is owner of Lang's Drug store, located at 129 South Central avenue. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lang have a host of friends in Glendale and Los Angeles.

Three Honorees

There were three honorees at the bridge games, Mrs. J. I. Wernette second and Miss Hartnett received the consolation prize.

Mrs. Waite's guests were Mrs. A. T. Anderson, Miss Marion Hartnett, Mrs. W. E. Sawyer, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Thomas Whiting of Hollywood; Mrs. E. Schuyler, Mrs. Julia Perkins; Mrs. George Eggleston of Huntington Park and Miss Edith Forsberg of Los Angeles.

A wedding of interest locally, and of especial interest to friends of Miss Clara L. Flynn of Waco, Texas, who has been the guest of her brother, W. H. Flynn, and family, for the past few weeks at their home, 331 El Bonito street, was celebrated Saturday morning, July 28, 1923, when Miss Flynn became the bride of Roy W. LePage of Powers, Oregon.

The wedding was the culmination of a romance of some years. Mrs. LePage has been a California visitor before and made many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. LePage left Glendale Sunday morning for Powers, Oregon, where they will make their home.

Picnic Outing

A Sunday picnic dinner and outing yesterday in Brookside park, Pasadena, honored Mrs. Robert Gillespie of San Francisco, who is a guest of Mrs. Ernest A. Carr of 1130 San Raphael avenue.

Those enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie; Mr. Thrairie of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Borlon and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Freeman of Eagle Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Vallenvuella and sons, Frederick and Edward and Mr. and Mrs. Carr.

In the afternoon they enjoyed bathing and games and early in the evening returned to the Carr home for music and refreshments.

Dinner In Patio
Mr. and Mrs. David Lewinsohn of 1017 Kenneth road were hosts yesterday at an old fashioned country dinner, served in the patio of their attractive heights home.

Entertain Club

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Root of 425 West Lomita avenue, were host and hostess last Saturday night to the members of the Navajo Needlework club when they entertained with a dinner and "500" party.

Bouquets of asters carried out a floral scheme in lavender and white. The same tints prevailed through the dinner table appointments and place cards in the Japanese design.

In the evening "500" was played at which Mrs. L. O. Carlisle and E. O. Carlisle were awarded the prizes.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Overton, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Koonz, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Root and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Root.

Give Musicales

Announcement comes from Hollywood that Miss Gertrude Cleophas, Glendale pianist, of 337 North Central avenue, will give two piano numbers Wednesday night at the musicale given by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Guido Castles at their home, Castle Sans Souci, in Hollywood. There have been 400 invitations issued for the affair.

Luncheon Hostess

Mrs. F. W. Kille of 465 Oak street was hostess Saturday morning at a 10 o'clock breakfast, entertaining a few friends in honor of Mrs. Elsie Weaver, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Glendale.

Class Picnic

The members of the Lydia class of the First Presbyterian church and their friends will enjoy a picnic supper this evening at 6:30 o'clock at Verdugo Woodlands park. Each member is asked to bring sandwiches and one other article of fruit.

Opinions Differ on Effect of First Kiss

MONTICELLO, Ind., July 30.—"The greatest surprise to a girl who gets kissed the first time is there is no taste to it," North Judson News.

Which excited the Newton County Democrat to the following:

"No taste to it? Well, by the hen feathers on Cupid's dart, but the News man must be color-blind in the palate. They tell us, those who have tried it, that it tastes like the double distilled essence of honey spread thick on a piece of pumpkin pie. Away back in the lost our teeth and our clench on the beauty prize, the prettiest girl in all the world told us with her eyes that it felt like a covey of quail flying out of each ear and ended with a sensation like a flock of angels pouring molasses down one's back. No taste to the first kiss? Great Scott! It would make a wooden cigar store Indian's hair curl and his toe nails quiver in ecstasy."

Mr. Black of the Exide Service Station realizes that the automobile is not the only motive power that requires the proper mixture, and he is sure an expert in adjusting carburetor mixtures and ignition troubles. Here is what he has to say about our Glendale product—(Vegetone):

Glendale, Cal., 7-25-23.

Vegetone Co., Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sirs: Your preparation—"Vegetone," is certainly all you claim for it. Some time ago, I had a bad case of indigestion. Food felt like a lump of lead in my stomach. I felt unfit for work. A friend of mine recommended "Vegetone." He said it would get my stomach into action. It certainly did. I am in fine condition now. Your Glendale product is worthy of the highest recommendation.

Gratefully yours,
P. A. BLACK.
Care Exide Service Station.

For the short time that Vegetone has been on the market it has made a host of friends. Summer ailments like cramps and diarrhoea require "Vegetone" taken with hot water.

If you take castor oil follow it with "Vegetone." It quiets the stomach. Should you wish to take calomel—follow it with "Vegetone." It makes it safer.

Work it around your mouth before swallowing to prevent acidulness. After eating green apples use "Vegetone."

Pie, cake, cabbage are nothing to "Vegetone." Enjoy yourself. Eat and eat a plenty, if you have "Vegetone."

"Vegetone" contains no alcohol, or other habit forming drugs. Sold in Glendale at the BROADWAY PHARMACY also at ROBERTS & ECHOLS.

ONLY FOUR GIRLS SURVIVE POGROM

Children Who Saw Massacre in Russian City Safe in United States

CHICAGO, July 30.—Mollie Yampolska is playing these days in Chicago's beautiful parks, hopping on ice wagons for handfuls of cold chips, eating lollipops and otherwise doing what kids do. For the first time in her seven years of life the little girl knows what it means to be safe, secure and happy.

America is helping to wipe from the memory of this little orphan the picture that unfolded itself before her eyes in Kieff, Russia, in June, 1919. There she saw an anti-Semitic mob rioting in the streets and celebrating its orgy by wantonly murdering her father, mother and sister and the latter's fiancé.

Mollie's three older sisters stood by and nodded their corroboration as the child described the pogrom lasting two days and nights and resulting in 400 deaths.

The four children huddled together in a dark cellar until the mob had satisfied its murder lust. Then they were sent to an orphanage in Odessa. They escaped from the asylum but were captured on the Russian-Polish border when they sought to cross without passports. After a hurried investigation all were sentenced to die as counterrevolutionists, but the sentence was changed to imprisonment, Mollie said.

Through the intervention of Chicago friends of another and married sister they were released and came here.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Neglect of Souls Is Tragedy of All Ages

Despite the vacation season, attendance at both the Sunday school and preaching service at the Broadway Methodist church was well up to the average yesterday. In the absence of Mrs. night the duties of pianist were performed by Mrs. Newman. Professor Whitaker sang most beautifully "Love Hideth Me." Rev. J. Millikan, the pastor, used for his discourse "Caring for Souls, Psalm 142: 4, 'No one careth for my soul.'"

He said in part: "This is a testimony that brings a pain to my heart. The thought that even one soul is being neglected should arouse every child of God to service, for there is no neglect that compares to the neglect of a human soul. Neglect has been the tragedy of all ages, for it has wrecked and ruined homes, business careers, and degraded and destroyed civilizations. What is implied in caring for soul is contained in just one word—love. Before we can love human soul we must first love God with all our heart, otherwise we are not capable of truly loving and serving souls. There is nothing more beautiful or significant than service for others, and if you could have your name written in history, or indelibly enrolled in a book of life, be a servant for God's sake."

Persecution Develops Real Preachers, Claim

"It is to be wondered if any truly great work for God is being done when preachers are continually showered with presents and fed with taffy by the people."

Rev. Keith Brooks of Eagle made this assertion yesterday morning in the council chamber at the city hall at the session of the Men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church. Persecution, according to Rev. Brooks, made the early disciples real preachers.

"Those early preachers had no chance to get a swelled head," he remarked, "for there was no one to pat them on the back and throw bouquets at them. We could have more wonderful teaching today if there were more fellowship in the suffering Christ, more willingness to be in His rejection. There are too many buttery-soft sermons, they are like the soda water which the boy told his mother was 'nothing but sweet wind.'"

Education Leads to Faith In God's Word

"Infidelity" was the subject of a sermon yesterday morning at the Concordia Lutheran church. "Let us not be deceived by the pretensions of those who say they would like to believe on the Lord Jesus but that they cannot because they are too highly educated," exclaimed Rev. Henry Kringle.

"Infidelity has not monopolized education and will not. Among the greatest men, the most profound thinkers, the wisest statesmen, the highest men in literature, there always have been and there are to this day professed Christians. Washington professed a Christian faith, and so did Newton and Weber. Also many learned men of our day are prominent in the Christian faith. Earning and education are not barriers against the Christian faith. The true cause of infidelity is always to be sought in man's will."

Pasadena Pastor in Methodist Pulpit

Rev. Frank C. Edwards of Pasadena occupied the pulpit yesterday morning at the First Methodist church. Rev. Harry Rasmus enlivened the evening service with histories of old hymns.

Jesus Only' Is Theme Of Cory's Discourse

Rev. B. C. Cory delivered the sermon at the Sunday morning service at the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church, taking as his theme, "Jesus Only," and centering his attention on the transfiguration of Christ. "Elijah and Moses were the two greatest figures in the Hebrew nation," said the speaker, "but only Jesus reigneth forever."

Mrs. Frank Marshall sang a beautiful soprano solo, "Flee as a bird."

Match wood from the Manchurian forests is used in the factories of China.

EASTERN PASTOR HOLDS SERVICES

Noted Ohio Pastor Preaches In Christian Church Sunday Morning

Services of especial interest were held yesterday at the Central Christian church. Dr. Frank T. Butchart, pastor of the Broadway Christian church of Cleveland, Ohio, occupied the pulpit in the morning. He is one of the outstanding figures of this denomination and is particularly interested in the Americanization of immigrants. He recently arrived in California to speak next week in Long Beach at the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the Christian Churches of Southern California.

The morning anthem was Marston's "Like As a Father." Mrs. Floyd Mercer of 319 North Jackson street sang as a soprano solo Gounod's "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Observe Missouri Day "Missouri day" was observed by the Sunday school with an appropriate demonstration of a reminder of the "Show-Me" state.

Last Sunday, which was Kentucky day, Mrs. D. M. Mackay of 521 East Main street, formerly instructor in dramatics at Compton high school, recited a poem about the "Blue Grass State." Mrs. R. C. Logan of 502 Salem street played "My Old Kentucky Home" with variations upon the piano. The previous Sunday was Kansas day and the church was decorated with sunflowers. The Sunday before that was Illinois day, and suckers were distributed in the Sunday school. Next Sunday will be Indiana day.

One point is allowed for every person present and five points in addition for every native son from the state being honored. The state winning the largest number of points will have its name inscribed upon a loving cup. Floyd Mercer of 319 North Jackson street, superintendent of the Sunday school, believes the rivalry is responsible for keeping the attendance up to its winter average this summer.

Kipling's "God of Our Fathers," which was set to music by Schaeffer, was sung by the church choir at the evening service. This is led by W. J. Myers of 513 Pioneer drive. Mrs. M. G. Musser of 600 West Colorado street is the church accompanist.

Members of the choir are as follows: Mrs. C. C. Stoler, 1249 Justin street; Mrs. Floyd Mercer, 319 North Jackson street; Miss Lula E. Garton, 402 East Harvard street; Mrs. B. P. Bolen, 708 Orange Grove avenue; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Williams, 121 South Isabel street; Mrs. C. J. Weideman, 119 North Kenwood street; Mrs. F. W. Figg, 405 North Maryland avenue; Mrs. R. P. Jodon, 133 South Kenwood street; Mrs. Eva A. Hut-ton, 326 East Colorado street; Miss Ruth Cox, 605 East Lomita avenue; Gordon S. Mize, 141 North Kenwood street; H. E. Cox, 605 East Lomita avenue; Dr. R. C. Logan, 502 Salem street; De-Yorance Davidson, 206 South Orange street; and Harry A. Marple, 1439 Glenwood road.

Evening Topic "Feasting and Fasting" was the topic for the evening sermon. "Feasting by schedule is like saying prayers before tumbling into bed," said C. A. Cole. "You don't have to push a button or pull a lever to make a Christian honest, good, kind, reverent. You don't have to turn on steam to make him pray or put on brakes to make him fast."

Sudden Conversions Sudden Frights, Claim

"Tomorrow" was the subject of the morning sermon yesterday at the First Lutheran church. The text was taken from the Second Book of Moses at the tenth verse, "And he said, tomorrow." "It has been well said that procrastination is the thief of time," said Dr. H. C. Funk. "One of the biggest lies the devil ever put over is the one in which he tried to make people believe that a Christian must have a long sorrowful face and a high religious intonation. No being scared is not a sure sign of being saved. A man may have lots of feeling and yet be lost. Most of these so-called sudden conversions are nothing but sudden frights. A cool, deliberate decision to follow Christ and the Church is better than any amount of feeling. Decide! By the grace of God, say 'I will'—and do it now. 'Isn't it strange that men will put off the most important things?'"

CHRISMAN'S THEME

"Divine Grace, Divine Glory and Divine Guidance" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. C. H. Chrisman yesterday morning at the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Conversion Opens Up New Vista of Service

Matthew was described as a converted business man yesterday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

"In the ministry of Jesus," commented Rev. Philip K. Kemp, "we read of many different kinds of conversions showing how the Master touched every side of life. Matthew is an example of what we may call a converted business man who heard the call of Jesus to follow Him, and, like many another man, he left all. The keen shafts of Jesus' preaching must have entered his soul. Perhaps even more than the words of the Master was the deep lesson of His sympathy in touching and healing the sick."

"God speaks to man and a new vista is opened up, and the one consuming desire becomes that of serving God. This is why we are interested in men like Matthew, who was a significant, perhaps, as a tax gatherer, but of tremendous interest as a disciple of the Lord Jesus Christ."

"In his life dawned the great conviction that, after all, there is no life of such telling power like the life of goodness. If that was true for Matthew, it must be doubly true for ourselves."

Two Boys Confess to Burglary, Police Say

Two burglaries were committed by juveniles over the week-end in Glendale.

The tire vulcanizing shop and bicycle accessory establishment at 1414 South San Fernando road, operated by F. M. Irby, was entered through a rear window Saturday night. Prints of tennis shoes and corduroy trousers on the ground outside the window led the local police department to suspect a Los Angeles boy who was on probation.

Thorp's grocery store at the corner of Western avenue and San Fernando road was being entered about 10 o'clock last night by this boy and two companions when they were arrested by Officer Charles B. Blakes and Officer A. Kerns.

Two of the boys confessed this morning to Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, that they recently robbed the grocery store at 1245 South San Fernando road of candy, cigarettes and about $8 in change.

WATCHMAN HELD IN CRASH PROBE

Death of Four Women and Man at Crossing to Be Investigated

NEW YORK, July 30.—An investigation was under way today to determine responsibility for the death of four women and a man, killed when a Long Island Railroad train struck their automobile at Rockville Center, L. I. Sunday.

The watchman was held in $5,000 bail today pending the investigation. He said his gates were down and the car crashed through. County officials were investigating a report that the gates were not down. The train was travelling 45 miles an hour. The dead:

Wm. Gottlieb, 50, dress maker, of New York; Miss Mae E. Louis, 34, a nurse, formerly of Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Gladys Miller, and actress of Brooklyn; Miss Stella Keogh, an actress, sister of Mrs. Miller of Brooklyn; Miss Verna Tolley, 27, of New York, newspaper woman.

Homicide Charge

Vernard Kearns, of Brooklyn, was instantly killed, and Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Sarah Foster, both of New York, were slightly injured when the taxicab in which they were returning from Coney Island early today was struck by another automobile and overturned. The driver of the auto fled. Later Warren Andrews was arrested and technically charged with homicide.

Check Death List in Stockton Hotel Fire

STOCKTON, Cal., July 30.—Careful check was being made of the ruins of the Hotel Philson to determine whether there was any loss of life in addition to the death of Homer Felts, Porterville, who fell to his death from a blazing fire escape, when the hotel burned early Sunday morning in one of the most disastrous fires Stockton has known for many years. Five persons were injured fighting the flames and a score of persons suffered from the effects of smoke. The hotel was crowded when the blaze broke out, and it was with difficulty that it was emptied. The three upper floors of the Commercial & Savings bank building were damaged. Loss was estimated close to $800,000.

REV. BEAR PREACHES

Rev. D. C. Bear of 1214 South Brand boulevard occupied the pulpit yesterday at the Central Methodist church. His morning subject was: "Awake, the Night is Far Spent."

BUSINESS GOOD OVER DISTRICT

Federal Reserve Chief, in Summary, Tells About Trade Conditions

Unprecedented expansion in the business of Southern California manufacturers in lines that are affected by federal taxes was established by a special report of revenue receipts for the fiscal year which closed June 30, compared with 1922, that was forwarded to Washington yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell.

In point of growth, the manufacture of oleomargarine has set a remarkable record. Collection of manufacturers' tax for 1923, compared with 1922, shows an increase of 153 per cent. The tax represents manufacturers' sales of 2,954,400 pounds of oleomargarine in 1923, as against 1,164,400 pounds for the same period of 1922. While the oleo tax receipts of this district show a gain of 153 per cent, the collection of the tax for the United States as a whole has shown a steady decrease since 1920.

Special tax on retail dealers in oleomargarine developed a gain in receipts of 51 per cent, while the gain from wholesalers' tax was 112 per cent.

Receipts from manufacturers' tax on automobile trucks and automobile wagons, for the fiscal year 1923, were $120,726, compared with $53,009 for 1922, a gain of 127 per cent. This tax represents manufacturers' sales of $4,024,230 for the 1923 fiscal year, compared with $1,763,600 for the 1922 period.

Soft Drink Gain The soft drink industry registered a remarkable record. For beverages made wholly or in part from cereals and containing less than one-half of one per cent alcohol, manufacturers paid a tax of $13,540 in the 1922 fiscal year, as against $59,064 in 1923, a gain of 336 per cent. The tax paid in 1923 represents sales of 23,625,600 pint bottles, compared with 5,310,400 in 1922.

Unfermented fruit juice taxes increased 287 per cent over 1922. The tax paid called for 3,410,000 pint bottles in 1923, as against 940,000 in 1922.

On fountain syrups used in manufacturing soft drinks, $18,065 in taxes was paid by the manufacturers in 1922, while it jumped to $71,617 in 1923, a gain of 296 per cent.

Still drinks containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol brought in taxes that showed an increase of 213 per cent over 1922. This calls for manufacturers' sales of 2,862,400 pint bottles in 1923, compared with 912,000 in 1922.

Manufacturers of carbonic acid gas paid tax for 1923 that was an increase of 1,548 per cent over 1922.

action and conveyances were $1,161,478 for 1923, compared with $776,998 for 1922, a gain of 49 per cent. Here is a sure barometer pointing to unusual business activity.

Manufacturers of hunting and shooting garments furnished a 37 per cent increase.

Bowling alley, and billiard halls paid $61,630 in 1923, as against $50,710 in 1922, a gain of 21 per cent.

Tax paid on admissions to cabarets increased from $52,871 in 1922 to $65,570 for this year, a gain of 24 per cent.

From dues and memberships in country and golf and social clubs $331,208 was collected, compared with $255,366 for 1922, an increase of 29 per cent.

Theater seating capacity has increased 23 per cent during the year ending June 30, as indicated by special taxes paid.

Collector Goodcell commented upon the fact that none of these gains in tax receipts was due to increased tax rates, for no rates were increased and some were lowered, but to new business and the expansion of old industries.

"In other words," he said, "it means prosperity."

Glendale Business Men on Fishing Trip

Fish, residing to the west of Santa Monica, are being annoyed today by a party of Glendaleans. Those scheduled to make the excursion were C. J. Hatz, R. F. Adams, Eugene Gordon, E. O. Kiefer, A. L. Baird, Jack Cook and Dr. R. M. Ritchey.

FERBER'S WONDER WEEK AIDS SALES

Success of Project Leads to Plans for Repetition Throughout Year

"Wonder Week was wonderful!" is Manager L. E. Mendelman's description of last week's feature sale announced at Ferber's store at 108 South Brand boulevard, as "Wonder Week."

"We enjoyed great success in every line," Mr. Mendelman says, "and are confident that we reached our goal, that of making many new friends in Glendale."

"So gratified are we over our success that we are planning to hold several Wonder Weeks throughout the year."

"Following last week's success was the $5 dress day today, when we offered some wonderful values for that price."

"This store is the first of a chain of Ferber's stores planned for southern California. The second one is to be opened the first of September at Fullerton and if they all enjoy the success the Glendale store has in its four months of existence the group will compose a great trading organization."

If you besmire the name of one whose reach is far from you. The wrong you've done today to them may some day come to you.

FORMER PREMIER LEAVES HUNGARY

Count Karolyi Quits Native Land to Make Future Home In Canada

BUDAPEST, July 30.—It is not often that a European who has been prime minister of his own country goes to the New World to live.

Count Karolyi, former premier of Hungary, however, has turned his back on his native land and has taken his family to Canada, where he expects to make his future home.

To friends in his native land he confided: "I go to Canada with great joy, so that my children may be educated on English lines."

Riding Master Sets Inspiring Example

PARIS, July 30.—The example of Max Oser, Swiss riding school master, who married an American millionaire's, inspires French school boys.

In a recent questionnaire conducted by the principal of a Paris grammar school several of the boys declared they are going to be grooms when they grow up.

Lankershim Wins by 9-3 From Glendale

Lankershim proved conclusively at the Park avenue and San Fernando road baseball grounds yesterday afternoon that she has a winning nine than Glendale, winning by the score of 9 to 3. Particularly in hitting the ball, Lankershim excelled, getting 13 hits to the local boys' 7. This definitely puts Glendale out of second place in the San Fernando Valley league. The box score:

Almost anybody will be willing to bet that Babe Ruth will be the major league champion of 1923 for home run clouts even if he does not approach his record figures. Williams had a big lead on the Bambino which the latter has been cutting down with consistent regularity.

There is one record in baseball that has stood since 1884 that not even Babe Ruth with all the assaults he has been making on the ball in the last few years has been able to reach. And that is old Pop Anson's five four-base clouts in two games. It was on an August 5 when Chicago was playing against Cleveland when he knocked out four homers in the first game and clouted three more in the next session.

Golf enthusiasts and tennis bugs each are claiming that their own particular pet game is the fastest growing in the country. We confess to only a passing interest in this particular question, but we are consumed with curiosity as to what happens when the discussion is definitely settled.

By FRANKLIN R. MORSE

Jess Willard in a few months' time amassed a snug little fortune for the reason that he succeeded in making a lot of people think he had "come back."

As a matter of fact, Willard never did come back. His victory over Floyd Johnson proved absolutely nothing except that there is such a thing as luck.

Willard could never come back for the reason that none of the elements necessary for the success of an athlete were included in his makeup. He had lost things that never can be regained. Age had robbed him of the Ptomaines striking out 9 batsmen.

And these absolutely necessary attributes are youth, speed, stamina and recuperative power. He did not have a single one of them. Nothing but bulk, and that was a huge bulk.

This writer is willing to brave the odium of being put in the "I told you so" class, but he has the files of his writings to prove that, some months ago, he wrote what has subsequently come true almost to the letter. We saw Willard when he started out to try his "comeback" stunt. We sat within a few feet of him and saw him work out. And we said then that Willard, as a champion boxer, was as much a thing of the past as Lord Nelson's Victory would be in a battle fleet of today.

Recuperative power is the most important thing that the athlete has. It must be the power of quick recuperation. One minute needs to rest it before the next trial. The man forty years old never has been able and never will be able to store up any energy in that time.

Your baseball player stays in the game for a long time for the reason that he has lots of time to recuperate. Ty Cobb knocks a home run, let us say. All right. After he has made the circuit of the bases he gets down into the pit and does a lot of hard breathing and his heart is doing considerable thumping. He has a lot of time to regain the former and quiet the latter. He may not be called on for another such effort for a half hour. Perhaps not during the entire game.

If Willard essayed a "come-

While France is not considered to be a real final contender for the Davis Cup this year, she is developing some mighty fine young material that is sure to put her among the winners in the future.

Henri Cochet, who is known to American fans as a promising youngster, the French think the future king of the courts. Last year he held the clay court title, but he was eliminated by Washer, the Belgian, in this season's play at Saint-Cloud. Cochet was apparently way off form at the time.

Court generalship is this youngster's weakness—a fault that only years of playing can rectify. He is apt to find himself caught in odd corners of the court when playing against more experienced players. His service is good, and as a volleyer few can equal him.

What Carpenter was to fight fans in France, Cochet is to the lawn tennis bugs there. His defeats are so taken to heart by the tennis audiences that it is really pathetic. When Washer eliminated him at Saint-Cloud in the semifinals, Henri's loss was felt so keenly by the crowd that—except for the plaudits of a group of international players and the many foreigners in the stands who appreciated good tennis above a national spirit—Cochet's defeat was received with gloomy disapproval.

Cochet is a factor in international tennis who will improve for the next two years. He has the confidence, temperament and natural ability. Give him a few years' experience now and he'll give the best stars in the tennis world a run for their money.

COMMISSION MAY HALT TITLE BOUT

Dempsey-Firpo Permit May Be Held Up in War on Promoter Rickard

For DAVIS J. WALSH
By International News Service.
NEW YORK, July 30.—In suite of announcements to the contrary, it develops that the Dempsey-Firpo enterprise may not be held at the Polo grounds or elsewhere on September 14. Mr. Rickard said the proposed change in his base of operations would compel him to apply for a new license.

The commission is believed to have become unfavorable toward Rickard and would like nothing better than to have some other promoter fall heir to the Firpo business. An indication of this attitude is found in the promise alleged to have been given unofficially that the commission would waive its rule naming $25 as the top price for tickets, in the event that a promoter other than Rickard can line up Dempsey and Willard. Another angle that may be to Rickard's disadvantage is the threat of Paddy Mullins, the negro manager, to go before the commission and protest any action that would give Firpo the first shot at Dempsey. It was said that Mullins had been given the benefit of some back stairs gossip which has led him to believe that a protest will not be out of order.

May Shift Bout
All of which means that Dempsey will fight neither Firpo nor Willis this fall. The commission has already, in private statements, declared Dempsey and Willis taboo in this state and if it fails to grant Rickard a license for the Polo grounds bout, the promoters would face the strenuous and very hurried business of signing Dempsey and Firpo to another contract, and would have to make arrangements for handling one of the largest crowds in the history of boxing before cold weather sets in. The improbability of this is made quite clear when it is realized Rickard has the foresight to handoff Firpo, legally, and he would be a tough citizen for another promoter to handle. Boyles Thirty Acres is Rickard's only "out" if the Commission fails him tomorrow. This is not very encouraging, Jersey authorities being what they are.

ported in excellent spirits, though greatly fatigued and still weak from the purgatives and the lack of food. The corridor leading into the wing of the hotel in which the president's suite is located, was jammed with people during the night, chiefly newspaper correspondents. The presidential suite consists of five rooms and on either side of his suite, members of his party are quartered. The rooms were jammed with people coming and going, anxious for some information. The inevitable rumors that the president had died, came into the place hotel by telephone and telegraph and caused considerable annoyance to the president's physicians. They originated on all parts of the country.

Flowers in great quantities also came in to the hotel from various people in San Francisco and elsewhere. Mayor Ralph San Francisco was one of the early callers. They simply did an official call and expressed their solicitation for the president and then retired.

The explanation of the calling of Dr. Cooper, a heart specialist, was contained in the official bulletin issued today. The president, the statement said, has temporarily strained his cardiovascular system by carrying on speaking engagement while

$400,000 Damage in Lumber Town Fire

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 30.—Fire of unknown origin which last night destroyed the lumber mill of the Carlisle Pennsylvania company at Carlisle, twenty-two miles from here, on the Pacific Beach highway, with an estimated loss of $400,000, was under control today. The town's 500 residents who fled their homes with their household goods when it was feared the town would be destroyed, were moving back into the village today. Aberdeen and Hoquiam fire departments went to the aid of the Carlisle volunteer fire department, and battled the fire for six hours before it was brought under control.

The president has spoken at numerous places in the last few weeks under difficulties because of the largeness of the crowd and desire to make his voice reach many as possible of his audience. Somewhere in these excursions he "temporarily overstrained" himself in his efforts to understand by the thousands who listened to his speeches.

Family And Police In Imbroglio Over Shoot

HAMMOND, Ind., July 30.—One Hammond family is between a pig and the police, so to speak. The pig, a ninety-pounder, came trotting into the family's yard. First it sampled the flower beds and found nothing to suit its taste. Shaking the roots of the last flower from its snout it trotted around to the garden, where it feasted on carrots, beans and cabbages. The family captured the pig and held it hostage for the damage it had done. A city ordinance prevents the keeping of pigs in the city. The owner of the animal refused to claim it and neighbors threatened police action if the family held it. They also warned against turning it loose in the neighborhood to do more damage.

Chief Executive Fails To Regain His Strength When Weakened By Trip, Poison

however, that his entire trip has been abandoned and a consultation of physicians was called in the presidential suite on the eighth floor of the palace hotel.

The physicians conferred for two hours. Among those called in was a noted specialist. The conference was concluded at 1:20 o'clock this morning, the consulting doctors declining to issue a statement or make any comment on the president's condition. Dr. Hubert M. Work, secretary of the interior, said at 7:30 a. m. that President Harding had rested very poorly last night.

The physicians promised to issue a statement at 10 o'clock this morning. The doctors participating in the conference were Dr. C. E. Sawyer, senior medical officer of the White House, Dr. Joe L. T. Boone, junior medical officer at the White House of the United States Navy, Dr. Ray L. Wilbur, stomach specialist, and president of Leland Stanford university; Dr. Charles Cooper, heart specialist, and Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior who in private life is a physician. Shortly before calling the consultation of physicians, Dr. Sawyer issued a statement in which he said:

"New symptoms arising from the day indicating that the case is more serious. Bulletins will be issued regularly for the information of the public."

Reduces Strength
What the new symptoms were, Dr. Sawyer declined to state. It seemed important that Dr. Cooper, a noted heart specialist, had been called in. The illness, coming after forty days and nights of constant travel, is believed to have reduced the president's strength.

The physician stressed in the meager comment, that his condition was his weakness. He pointed out that Mr. Harding had undergone a severe strain in the forty days since he left the White House.

The travel, together with the speaking and handshaking, the effect of crab meat poisoning, but most important, the administering of medicine to rid his system of the poison, combined with the fact that since Friday the president has had but very little food, all tended to weaken him.

The president spent all of Sunday in bed, with a trained nurse in constant attendance. His physicians said today the president would continue to remain in bed until such a time as may be considered he has the strength to stand the long overland journey back to Washington without suffering ill effects.

Issue Statement
At 11 o'clock last night at the time the president's physicians announced the remainder of his trip should be abandoned, the following statement was issued:

"The president is deeply appreciative of the fact that the people of California and its great cities have planned a series of magnificent demonstrations in honor of his visit. He realizes that the great welcome placed on the public authorities, and the people in general by reason of the uncertainty whether the program in which he was to have participated, could be carried out. He was deeply concerned to avoid the possibility that many thousands would travel long distances and then be disappointed. Accordingly after full consideration of all circumstances he desired the statement made public that by the advice of his physicians he will NOT attempt to carry out the program arranged for him in San Francisco."

Makes Explanation
"Moreover the president is reluctantly persuaded that it will be necessary to cancel the entire California program." Secretary of Commerce Hoover, secretary of the California state committee to the entertainment of the president in Los Angeles, Catalina, San Diego and all points where the president had planned to visit southern California:

"To my profound regret, I am compelled in this manner to notify you and your associates who have been preparing for the entertainment of the president, that owing to his illness, all arrangements for his further tour have been cancelled. The president has expressed the earnest wish that I indicate to you, and through you to all who have participated in the arrangements for his reception and entertainment, a deep disappointment that this course has been unavoidable. He is deeply appreciative of the kindness of the people of California and wishes me to extend his most hearty thanks to all of them. The facts regarding the president's illness will, of course, be communicated from time to time through the press."

"Mrs. Harding desires to have her own expression of appreciation joined with that of the president for all the hospitalities and the manifold testimonies of good will that have been extended by the people of California." All plans for the continuance of the presidential tour were abandoned today and it was announced that the president will remain in San Francisco indefinitely. This indefinitely means at least four days and possibly ten days—the length of time depends entirely on how rapidly Mr. Harding regains his strength. Whenever his physicians consider he is strong enough to start the long, tedious, railroad journey across the hot deserts and plains of the West and Middle West, the start for the White House will be made. In any event, the Panama Canal, Porto Rico and other places which Mr. Harding had planned to visit during August are now forgotten.

The decision to abandon the trip was reached shortly before midnight at a meeting between Mrs. Harding, Secretary Work and the doctors. Mr. Sawyer was strongly opposed to any thought of continuing the trip, and he was supported by Mrs. Harding and the others.

While it is evident that the physicians entertain some fears concerning the president's heart condition, it was, nevertheless, his extreme weakness which was the principal reason for the drastic change in plans here. The president is very tired, and the physicians do not believe that this extreme fatigue could be remedied by a trip through the tropics in August, cooped up in a none too copious naval transport. The president's strength is much depreciated since he left Washington. Sunday morning, upon his arrival, he arose from his bed aboard the train and walked only some twenty steps to a waiting automobile, which carried him to the hotel. He walked through the lobby of the hotel, was whisked upstairs in an elevator, and thence walked down the long corridor to his suite.

Harding Very Weak
When he arrived there he was panting from the exertion and threw himself on a bed; the same Warren G. Harding that only four months ago played thirty-six holes, equaling ten miles of golf, on a hot, sandy course in Florida, and finished comparatively fresh. This condition of extreme weakness, however, always follows an attack of ptomaine poisoning, according to the physicians. The purgatives, the abstinence from food, alone are weakening, it was pointed out, and, in the president's case, the natural results from his illness have been great fatigue from many days of constant travel by train, motor and boat, and the constant crowds which have been Mr. Harding's daily portion for nearly six weeks.

It is to his condition that the physicians attribute his "inability to come back" and throw off the effects of the poisoning as quickly as they had anticipated. It was recalled today that the physicians around Woodrow Wilson, often said that if Mr. Wilson had "eased up" at a certain time in his strenuous traveling and working, he probably would have been a well man today. As it was, he refused to slacken the pace, and his historic breakdown, which, oddly enough, occurred in a swing through the West, followed.

The tragic Wilson example be-

BEATEN SAILORS SUE SHIP OWNER

World War Veteran Relates Story of Cruelty by Vessel's Officers

By CHESTER B. BAHN
For International News Service
GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 30.—Baring a tale of cruelty on the high seas almost unbelievable in this day, Robert I. Thaler, of this city, twenty-two-year-old veteran of the world war, has filed suit for $5000 damages against the owners of the British steamship Massasoit.

Suits have been filed by twelve other members of the crew, who also charge cruelty by officers of the British vessel, which they quit without being paid off.

For three weeks young Thaler, son of Simon Thaler, local merchant, was under treatment at St. Vincent's Hospital, Norfolk, Va., for injuries he claims were inflicted by the chief engineer and the first mate of the Massasoit. His back still shows marks and scars. "My injuries were due to cruel treatment, and I hope that neither I nor anyone else will ever have to go through my experiences again," he said.

"I shipped at New York May 7, as an able sailor, having had several other trips to sea. We were on our way to Mexico when the chief engineer, Allan Smith, ordered me to go into the bunkers to shovel coal, one of the regular firemen having been taken sick. On May 10, while I was down there, a large piece of coal fell on one of my hands, mashing it and spraining my wrist."

Beaten by Engineer
"My hand was so swollen that I could not work, and it was necessary to have it bandaged. Shortly afterward the chief engineer asked for me and was told that my arm was broken. He said that he would break my arm, and he hit me in both eyes several times with his fist and kicked me around on the deck."

On my way back I was so blind I stumbled over something on the deck, and the first mate, Arthur Severson, saw me. I told him of my trouble and said I needed medical attention. Then he came up and kicked me and picked up a broom-handle and hit me repeatedly on the body with it. Every time I complained of anything on the ship I was treated cruelly, and for that reason I was afraid to say anything about the beatings I got."

Sent to Hospital
When we arrived at Norfolk, Virginia, most of the crew had quit and didn't get their wages, myself included. They took us in at the Union Mission, and I felt so badly that they sent me to the hospital."

Edward Mudge, of Brooklyn, who was an eye witness to Thaler's troubles, was also confined to St. Vincent's Hospital and had an intervention label and petition against the Massasoit for alleged damages both civil and maritime. He charges that medical aid was refused him by officers of the Massasoit when he injured his hand and that he was forced to poison to develop.

PER CAPITA DEBT OF U. S. IS $280

Foreign Loan Would Reduce Figure to $189, Says Financial Expert

Although the national debt of the United States is $22,349,707,365, and the total debt of the states, counties and cities of the nation is estimated at $8,500,000,000, an examination of the books of the Treasury Department as of June 30, indicates that the people are well able to withstand this enormous debt, which amounts to about $280 per capita, according to Blyth, Witter & Company.

Against this total debt must be credited about $10,000,000,000 owed to the United States, which would reduce the amount per capita to about $189. Credit must also be allowed for the immense investments of Americans abroad, which also is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $10,000,000,000, but is gradually being reduced since the balance of trade has turned against us.

It is estimated that the total wealth of the United States amounts to about $3600 per capita. Deducting the estimated debt of $189 each, leaves a net worth of $3411 for each inhabitant. The national income now is estimated at $70,000,000,000 or $636 per capita, and is steadily increasing. In the face of these remarkable figures it is easy to see that, despite the tremendous debt which the nation is carrying, it is perfectly solvent in every particular.

All the time we were in Mexico my eyes hurt me so I could not see, and all the satisfaction that the chief engineer would give me was to say I had dirt in my eyes.

On my way back I was so blind I stumbled over something on the deck, and the first mate, Arthur Severson, saw me. I told him of my trouble and said I needed medical attention. Then he came up and kicked me and picked up a broom-handle and hit me repeatedly on the body with it. Every time I complained of anything on the ship I was treated cruelly, and for that reason I was afraid to say anything about the beatings I got."

When we arrived at Norfolk, Virginia, most of the crew had quit and didn't get their wages, myself included. They took us in at the Union Mission, and I felt so badly that they sent me to the hospital."

Edward Mudge, of Brooklyn, who was an eye witness to Thaler's troubles, was also confined to St. Vincent's Hospital and had an intervention label and petition against the Massasoit for alleged damages both civil and maritime. ## CLAIM CHRISTIAN RITES SET ASIDE

Substitutes for Sacrament Of Christ Invented, Elder Declares

"He hath made His wonderful works to be remembered," was the text used by Elder R. W. Parmelee last night at the Seventh-Day Adventist church.

Elder Parmelee explained his belief that many of the events in the earthly life of Christ have their memorials, enjoined by the Saviour himself, and that for some of these there have been invented counterfeits.

"Take, for instance, the process of conversion," he commented. "The first act in preparation for the solemn rite of baptism is the crucifixion of the old man. Then comes the burial and the resurrection to a new and heavenly life. While the process of conversion could not be regarded as a memorial, baptism surely is a representation of the burial and resurrection of Christ and so becomes a memorial of that event. But when a part of the professed Christian world forsake the true mode of baptism, it was but natural that they should invent a substitute, a counterfeit.

The Lord's Supper

"On the last evening that the Saviour was with His disciples before His crucifixion, he instituted what we are wont to call 'The Lord's Supper.' As he dispensed the emblems, he said: 'This do in remembrance of me.' 'This is my blood.' 'As oft as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye do show forth the Lord's death.' Before he dispensed the emblems, he gave an example of His humiliation by washing His disciples' feet. He also enjoined upon them that this ordinance was an act of preparation to come together in communion at the Lord's table.

"A large part of Christendom has left off this ordinance of feet-washing as non-essential. In the case of another large religious organization, the wine is partaken of only by the religious leaders, then the bread is dispensed, not as a memorial of the broken body of Christ, but as being Christ Himself. Thus, to say the least, the memorial is partly deprived of its meaning.

"In giving up baptism according to its original mode, the door of entrance to the church was taken away and some substitute must be provided. So another mode was adopted which can in no sense be considered baptism for baptism means to dip, to plunge or immerse. Yet a large portion of the Christian world has been satisfied to set this rite aside and to adopt a counterfeit by simply moistening the head of the candidate slightly with a little water. Yet others, not satisfied with the simple rite, the Lord has enjoined, think it necessary to immerse the candidate three times. Neither of these can be what the Lord designed.

Challenges Custom
"By partaking of the emblems of the broken body and spilled blood of our Lord, we do show forth the Lord's death. What need have we, then, of the celebration of a day, Good Friday, for that purpose—and especially one that could not possibly always be on the date of the event it pretends to celebrate, for it falls upon a different date each year?"

"Where in the Bible have we been enjoined to celebrate either Easter or Good Friday? I am sorry to say that many have gone still further and, turning their backs on the plain commandment that requires the observance of the seventh day of the week, pretend to commemorate the resurrection by setting apart every first day and in so doing have set aside the fourth commandment."

MUST PAY TAX

The United States Treasury Department has rendered a decision to Interior Department, holding that the Quapaw Indians, residing in the northwest part of Oklahoma must pay income tax on incomes derived from their allotted or inherited land. The lands allotted these Indians have recently become valuable because of lead and zinc found upon them, with the result that the Quapaws have been receiving large incomes upon which question arose as to whether they should pay an income tax.

CONGRATULATE JUDGE AND MRS. LUCIEN SHAW

Couple Hold Celebration In Honor Of Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Judge and Mrs. Lucien Shaw surrounded by a group of relatives and close friends on the occasion of the celebration Saturday of their golden wedding anniversary, and housewarming of their new home at 919 South Central avenue. Seated in the center are Judge and Mrs. Shaw. Standing directly back of them are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Shaw, with their son, Lucien, Jr., on their right, and their two daughters, Dorothy and Evelyn on their left. Mrs. Hartley Shaw's mother, Mrs. H. S. West, is seated on the steps to the right of Judge Lucien Shaw. Seated on the steps to the left of Mrs. Lucien Shaw is Judge Shaw's sister, Mrs. E. S. Redd of Redondo Beach. Harris Shaw, lawyer and nephew of Judge and Mrs. Shaw, of Oakland, is on the extreme right of the picture. Near him is his little daughter, Sallie.

MANN VERSATILE IN SPORT REALM

Cardinal Outfielder Holds Job as College Coach During Winter

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 30.—You know Les Mann, outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, who sticks around in the majors because whether or not he's hitting, throwing or ketchin' baseballs at par he's way above par on pep and fight?

Les now has another job. Last year, when he was through for the summer at his regular job of working for Branch Rickey, Mann went to Indiana University as basketball coach. He made good, turning out a strong five with green material, when everybody was asking: "What does he know about basketball?"

Impressed with the ballplayer's ideas on athletics, Indiana has engaged Mann as assistant athletic director to Zora Clevenger, an Indiana graduate who is returning to his state after service as director of athletics in Tennessee. He will report this fall and act also as assistant to Head Coach Ingram, former navy star, in football.

Mann was a star halfback at Springfield Y. M. C. A. years ago. He will coach basketball, and also have charge of the baseball squad next spring, in addition to his other activities.

Freckle Faced Youth Offered Movie Job

FINDLAY, Ohio, July 30.—John Robert McDowell, nine, is said to have enough freckles to make Wesley Barry's face resemble the features of a spotted egg. He has been offered $100 a week to affiliate with a moving picture concern in Los Angeles and share his freckles with movie fans, according to Mrs. John S. Wilson, of Lima, his aunt.

FAVOR L. A. ARCHITECTS

The Builders' Exchange of Los Angeles, in executive committee session, adopted a resolution declaring "that it be the sense of the Builders' exchange that architects of Los Angeles be commissioned to prepare designs, plans and specifications for all city public buildings, confident that the local architects' fraternity includes members qualified and equipped to design any building of any magnitude."

THE GLENDALE

"The Town That Forgot God," directed by Harry Millard, who made "Over the Hill," is the Fox film now showing at the Glendale theatre.

The story of "The Town That Forgot God," is the story of David, a youngster living in a small American town, whose all-powerful love for his mother results in his being accorded innumerable unkindnesses by the townspeople, and how in the end a terrific flood sweeps away the entire village.

THE GATEWAY

"Pawnee," featuring Tom Moore and Edith Roberts, is the Select picture now showing at the Gateway Theatre. The story is by Frank L. Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," and Irvin V. Willat, director of "Behind the Door," swung the megaphone. "Pawnee" gets its title from a series of pledges, made either willingly or unwillingly by the principal characters. One pawns his life to a gambler, another pawns his soul to drugs, while a woman pawns her heart to love. In "Pawnee," Tom Moore has one of the best roles of his long and popular career, a role which permits of an unusually broad display of his versatile talents. Edith Roberts is also at her best in this film.

PROTEST ACTION IN FORECLOSURE

Property Owner Indignant at Imposition of Costs in $1.50 Assessment

Editor The Evening News—The following experience that I, as well as many others, have had, prompts me to write this letter.

It should be the intention of national, state, and municipal government to function with the least possible expense to the individuals who maintain it. As citizens of the United States, the state of California, the county of Los Angeles, and the city of Glendale, we willingly agree to assume our portion of the burden of expense to maintain these governments and beneficial improvements.

This particular instance I have reference to is an assessment on property on Brand boulevard near Maple avenue for street improvement of Los Feliz boulevard. I had been notified that this improvement would take place, and that my assessment would be $1.50. No further notice was received.

This $1.50, which was a just assessment, became delinquent on April 5, 1923, and on July 25, 1923, I was served notice of foreclosure of lien for $1.50 against an $8,000 piece of property, with the following attached to the $1.50: interest 25 cents, title search $3.50, filing $7.00, notary 50 cents, attorney fees $15, service $2.50. Total $30.25.

Many other suits were filed by the same company, in each case $15 was collected for attorney fees, also other above expenses.

I might add that the company is not a Glendale concern. On consulting a prominent attorney of Glendale I was informed that this procedure was WITHIN THE LAW.

L. W. CHOE.

Another 'Victim' Makes Complaint on Assessment

Another victim of this unusual twist in law points out to the editor of The Evening News that he was compelled to pay a total of $36.40 on an assessment of $5.20, stating that he understands 3500 of these "usurious and piratical summons," as he calls them, have been sent out to the public of this vicinity by the same company.

The property in this instance was a house and lot on Central avenue. The property owner states that he never received an assessment notice or other communication of any kind, his first knowledge that his property had fallen within the Los Feliz assessment district being the receipt of a summons, dated July 25, 1923, directing him to appear in the Superior court of Los Angeles, within ten days, as plaintiff in an action brought by the company above referred to.

erty owner states, he learned that he should have been notified by the Glendale city clerk that his property had fallen within the assessment district. He a 1 s o states that, upon investigation, he has become aware of what he feels to be a questionable practice, as between the municipality doing the street work, the contracting firm and the above referred to company.

This practice, he states, consists in the municipality turning over to the contracting firm certain liens against property lying in the assessment district, the contracting firm in turn selling these liens to the company above referred to, which makes a practice of collecting what this property owner feels to be an unreasonable sum, in addition to the original assessment.

Obviously, such a situation exists by reason of some loophole in the law, he feels, a loophole that should immediately be closed by legislation, if the citizens of the state of California are to be protected from extortion.

Illegal to Collect, Is Opinion Attorney Offers

The files of A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, show that resolution on intent on the part of the City Council to improve Los Feliz boulevard from the Southern Pacific right of way to Glendale avenue, was adopted June 5, 1922; and there is an affidavit in these files showing that assessment notices for this work were mailed out to every property owner concerned, on June 16, 1922.

The city clerk's office, therefore, has complied with the provisions of the Vrooman act in this respect, Mr. Van Wie states, and the matter is out of the hands of the city.

Leslie R. Tarr, assistant city attorney, advises all property owners who have received summons in this matter to consult an attorney at once, as only ten days are allowed for satisfying the claim, after which a default judgment may be had against the property.

Mr. Tarr states that Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, is taking the matter up directly with the plaintiffs in the action. It is understood that in the event of failure to arrive at a satisfactory understanding, the defendants will fight the action as a group.

Speaking of the manner in which these assessment liens were turned over to this company by the contractors, Mr. Tarr states that the Vrooman act provides this action on the part of the contractors is legal only after said contractors have demanded payment from the property owners in person.

Mr. Tarr also states that it is illegal for the plaintiffs in the present series of actions to collect their $15 attorney fees and other costs, as they did not wait until a year had elapsed from date of assessment, as the act provides; and that therefore the people of Glendale will win these suits if they fight them out.

Engineers have estimated that 5,500,000 horsepower could be derived from the water courses of four of the Dutch East Indian islands.

One Man Keeps Cool In Indiana Summer

HAMMOND, Ind., July 30.—While the rest of Indiana perspires in semi-tropical heat, G. J. Johnson plugs along in arch boots, sheepskin coat and a heavy cap, stopping occasionally to thrash his mittened hands against his sides to stimulate circulation. He works in the hardening room of a local ice cream company, where a temperature of from 16 to 22 degrees below zero is maintained. Ice cream is shipped to the plant from Chicago and re-hardened before it is sent out to the Calumet region.

WARD GLENOAKS CONTEST PRIZES

Word Paintings of Tract Win
Checks in Competition;
L. A. Man Gets $100

After a delay of a week in making a final selection of the best word-pictures of their tract, the Glendale Evening News announces that the decision of the judges is as follows: First award, $100, submitted by M. Miller, 660 North Andrews boulevard, Los Angeles; second award, $75, Louis A. Marcotte, 561 Glassel avenue; third award, $50, Mrs. J. E. Manning, 337 Shatto street; fourth award, $25, Mrs. L. L. Linsley, 4205 Len Muir avenue. Five $10 awards were made to Ralph A. and 510 West Broadway, Glendale; Charles Norton, 1009 Diamond avenue, Los Angeles; Margaret M. Kerber, 1424 Hayworth avenue, Hollywood; Laura Doan, 14 North Howard street, Glendale; and Harry Rom, 417 North Maryland street, Glendale. City Manager Reeves of Glendale; John Powers, member of the Glendale syndicate, owners of Glendale, and Haskall Hall, act manager for the Frank McNe company, acted as judges. While it was planned to make the awards last Sunday, it is said that so many word-pictures came the last day, and that there were so many excellent contributions, that the judges found it impossible to give the manuscripts thorough reading and make their decisions in time for publication to be made last Sunday. After going over the several hundreds of "Class A" descriptions, the choice of the judges finally narrowed down to twenty-four. From this group, the best one were then selected in the order named above.

Short Change Artists Trim Fruit Merchant

Short-change artists yesterday morning paused long enough at a fruit stand at 444 West Los Feliz road to make $5 profit off Andy Peterson. He described the 70 of them as being about 20 years of age, five feet eight inches tall, light complexioned, with wavy hair and khaki shirts without coats. They were driving Chevrolet.

Evangelistic Drive Is Aid to Churches

CHICAGO, July 30.—As the result of the annual spring evangelistic campaign 40,394 new members were added to the Protestant church of Chicago this year, according to an announcement made here by Walter R. Mee, secretary of the Chicago Church Federation. The Lutherans, with 175 churches reporting to the federation, had the largest increase, Mr. Mee said, approximating near 10,000. The Methodist increase was 9099 and the Presbyterian 5,880.

AUTO STRIKES GIRL

A report that his automobile had struck a girl in southern Glendale, about 8:30 yesterday morning, was made by D. W. Hillman, 1264 West Thirty-fifth place, Los Angeles, to the police department. "I was driving east on Los Feliz road," he reported. "A girl ran around a car and into my car, which knocked her down. I stopped as soon as I could and gave my name and address and offered assistance, but was informed that it wasn't necessary."

12 Candidates To Be Initiated By Elks Tonight

HEADED by James A. Apple, exalted ruler, Glendale Elks' officers will initiate twelve candidates into the lodge at the regular meeting tonight. Boston Press Carry Big Headlines on Shake

A postal card received this morning at The Glendale Evening News office from Miss Eva Daniels of 324 West Colorado street, who is visiting in the New England states, told of the thrilling accounts given in eastern papers of the recent earthquake in California. She writes: "The Boston papers carried a big scare-head of the earthquake in Los Angeles, mentioning Glendale as having felt a severe shock. Hope this is untrue. 'I had to explain to the various guests here that the papers usually have to be discounted in these cases.' Miss Daniels is visiting at present at Sunapee Harbor, N. H. She hopes to be in Glendale by September 1.

Find Widow Is Grass Variety, Asks Divorce

MADISON, Wis., July 30.—Alleging that his wife fraudulently represented herself as a widow when in reality she was one of the "grass" variety, John P. He married her here in February, 1922.

Says Greedy Landlord Is Menace to Country

WHEELING, W. Va., July 30.—That "the outrageously high rentals" and "grasping, avaricious landlords" are more of a menace to American institutions than bolshevik propaganda, is the declaration of Rev. W. H. Fields, local pastor. "The anti-children attitude of landlords might force this government to adopt the Russian Soviet scheme of socialization of children," said Rev. Mr. Fields. Under this plan children are taken from home and reared by the government in a community house. Because foreigners live in cheap slum houses who ban children open the way for future dominance of citizens of foreign parentage, says Rev. Fields.

TAX RETURNS TO BE IN TOMORROW

Capital Stock Law Demands
Payment of Taxes by July 31, Latest

The 1924 return for all corporations must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue, not later than July 31, 1923, to avoid penalty in an amount not exceeding $1000, according to G. H. Wende and Leslie R. Tarr, 102 East Broadway, local attorneys for the California Protective corporation.

"All corporate executives should familiarize themselves with the Capital Stock Law and file their returns in time," says Mr. Wende, who points out the main provisions to bear in mind are that every corporation must file a return and that the determination of liability rests with the Commissioner of Corporations; that the so-called "Massachusetts trusts," or joint stock companies, are included in the term "corporations" but that partnerships properly so-called are excluded; that such partnerships, however, must comply with the law in this respect, and that where unit-holders or beneficiaries have some voice in the control or management of the business, an "association" exists which is liable under the provisions of the act.

"Corporations which are exempt from the tax should file return claiming such exemption," says Mr. Tarr, "and explaining the grounds upon which the exemption is claimed." "Exempt corporations are of two classes—1. Those not engaged in business during the year ending June 30, but if it was in business even one day of the preceding year and one day of the taxable year it is subject to the tax; 2. Certain labor and agricultural organizations, fraternal orders, cemetery companies, co-operative banks, corporations organized for religious, charitable, scientific and educational purposes; business and civic leagues, clubs operated exclusively for pleasure; farmers and fruit growers' associations.

"In any event, as corporations are generally organized to do business, every existing corporation is presumed to be subject to the tax. No particular amount of business is required in order to bring a corporation within the terms of the act.

"The tax is imposed at the rate of $1 for each $1000 of the fair average value of the capital stock of the corporation in excess of the prescribed deduction of $5000. And, as the tax is payable in advance and is prospective, it is measured by the fair average value for the preceding taxable year."

Romantic Willows to Become Wooden Legs

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 30.—Romance is ended, for the willows that line Lovers' Lane are to be made into wooden legs. Time turns youth into age, and in the transformation romance turns into drab realities—such as wooden legs. Only a few more days will the venerable willows along the Westville road, Urbana, listen to the age-old story spoken from the heart of a man to the heart of a maid. The City Council has approved the sale of the trees to a Greenville concern which manufactures artificial limbs. Yes, we have no Lovers' Lane, but we have some fine wooden legs.

COMMENT That's All

Gas War Started Here.
$60,000 for No Bananas
Capability of Germany.
Warmest Thoughts for You.

By Gil A. Cowan

THE gasoline price war, which had its initial "shots" fired in this vicinity a month ago, ought to be going real strong this week with the various concerns announcing reductions right and left. Just where it will end no one knows, but we are pretty sure it started in Glendale.

From a survey of the situation it is learned that there is no reason why Southern California should pay more than 15 cents for gasoline and some grades should sell as low as 11 cents at a good profit. However, the big companies determined to keep their prices high until now the independent refiners have come out in the open with the fight.

During the session of the state legislature it was openly stated that gasoline costs from 7 to 9 cents a gallon to produce, 2 cents to distribute and two or three cents more for the dealer is all that should be charged, methinks.

There is every reason to believe "Yes, We Have No Bananas" will be mistaken for the national anthem of New York. "Tad" is accused of starting it.

During one of the fights at Jersey City the other night the band had to play, "Yes, We Have No Bananas" just eighteen times in eighty-five minutes.

In The Glendale Evening News last Friday the merchants used the idea as a topic of their advertising.

Frank and Irving Cohen, who wrote the words and ground out the tune, have netted $60,000 so far from their fruitless efforts.

The crisis in Germany may result in a new government, but the editor of The Hollywood Citizen calls attention to the fact that it will not change the capability of the people. He says:

Many have been the statements made heretofore that the German mark has reached the end of its decline and that a new order must come out of a wrecked economic situation.

These statements have been made when the mark has been worth only a few times what it is worth today.

But today the situation warrants the repeating of the statements.

It is not a pleasant situation to contemplate on the part of any who have a concern for the welfare of their fellow men.

Yet it is a situation that had to be expected.

Measured in marks Germany is broke and practically all her people are broke.

And we are not going to predict just what is going to be the outcome of the crisis in which that country finds itself today.

But don't forget that the Germans are capable of producing food to be eaten, and manufactured articles to be sold or exchanged, and that the crisis over the decline of the mark doesn't change this capability in the least.

It does make necessary a reorganization of the methods of doing business.

The writer is enjoying a few days away from Glendale, and says that he would not enjoy being at the typewriter telling you about the fastest growing city in America.

Be that as it may, we only wish you were along on this vacation. We are scheduled to be in "Hot water at Wheeler's Hot Springs" about the time you are reading this column.

If you keep cool, and the writer cools off sufficiently, some of warmest personal thoughts will be dispatched to Glendale for your edification tomorrow.

London Is Paradise For Jazz Teachers

LONDON, July 30.—The importation of jazz bands from America promises to become a leading British industry. Dance-mad London is raving over American jazz, and American jazz masters are raving over the money they are extracting from dance-mad London. Bert Ralton, of San Francisco, was a pioneer in the war of the jazz pilgrims. Since his arrival there have arrived jazz bands from Boston, Nebraska, San Francisco, cowboy jazz bands from Texas (or New Jersey, perhaps), and finally, Paul Whiteman and his merry men. Paul Specht is the latest addition. He is playing at a Lyon's Corner house which makes a specialty of 20 cent lunches, yet pays Specht and his organization $1500 a week.

Bey of Tunis to Be Honored by French

PARIS, July 30.—The Bey of Tunis will be one of Paris' distinguished guests this summer. He is to arrive early in July, accompanied by his son, Prince Ezz Edine Bey, and the Tunisian prime minister. They will be received with the highest military honors, beginning with a salute of fifty-one guns in Toulon harbor, a royal escort at the station and troops lined up along the Champs Elysees.

PRESBYTERIANS HEAR EDUCATOR

William Aberhart of Calgary, Alberta, Makes Address
At Church Sunday

The congregation of the Presbyterian church listened Sunday morning to a deep earnestness and appreciation to a weighty sermon from William Aberhart, educator and outstanding Christian layman of Calgary, Alberta. His theme was "What About the Millennium?" and his text was taken from Christ's word to His disciples found in Matthew 19:23; "Ye, who have followed me, in the regeneration (Heavenly re-creation) when the Son of Man shall sit in the throne of His glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel." A brief outline follows:

"Here we have a wonderful truth given in answer to the question Peter had asked, 'We have forsaken all and followed Thee, what shall we have therefore?' 'In that blessed time, Peter, you will not be sorry for the hard things you have had.' There is going to be that good time that we think of and sing of. Prophecy tells us of a glorious kingdom to be established, and we are to believe it, regardless of unbelieving worldly wisdom. Such as one said, 'The world millennium isn't in the Bible.' True, and that is because that word hadn't yet been coined into the language when Jesus was made, but the 'thousand years' which it means is repeated over and over again. Revelation 20: That time of Christ's reign on the earth is written large in the prophecy of the Old Testament. In the New Testament, the angel's foretelling of Christ's birth of the Virgin also announced that He should reign upon the earth. If we believe one we must believe the other. They go together.

Full of Knowledge
"The promises say that the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord. And God meant what He said. You hear, 'This is the millennium now.' Just go up to Banff and go into the bears' cage and see what happens. 'Oh, you take the Bible too literally.' No, the Bible means its details and says what it means, —the animals will then really be tame. And Jerusalem is to be a seaport by the waters that will break through there.

Jesus used a special term, 'in the regeneration.' The force of this is absolutely fundamental. It has two great senses: it means the spiritual re-birth of the individual, born into Christ's kingdom, a new creature with new principles, —no more turning over a new leaf. Having this, it is easy to grasp the other sense, the other great regeneration, that which is to be of the earth. No resurrection without Christ, no millennium except by His coming. The world will be in wickedness till then, 'evil waxing worse and worse,' and that is what we are going into, what the young people are entering. Are you preparing them by teaching them that the Bible is true?"

"If there is anything we must stand for, it is individual regeneration. And if that, then, we absolutely must believe the other, world regeneration."

Mining Engineers to Hold Canadian Meet

NEW YORK, July 30.—Mining engineers from this and other countries will make their summer pilgrimage next month to the heart of Canada's mineral riches. The 128th meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, it is announced here, will be held August 29 to 31 in Ontario and Quebec. With the co-operation of the Ministers of Mines of these two provinces and of the members of the Canadian and American Institutes of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the vast mineral wealth of this region will be placed on exhibition. The program includes visits to leading mines and technical sessions at which prominent engineers from many sections of the country will describe the developing problems of mining and metallurgy. Petroleum and gas will be among the principal general subjects of the technical sessions, which are to be held in Montreal.

Paris Landmarks Are Rapidly Disappearing

PARIS, July 30.—Almost gone are the old boulevard landmarks celebrated in Paris history. Now the Grand Cafe at the corner of the Rue de la Paix is about to disappear, and with it the famous Jockey Club, whose headquarters were in rooms above. It is going the way of the Cafe Anglais, Tortoni's and the Maison Doree, where the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, used to dine with a host of gay friends. The building has been sold to the manager of the Great Eastern railway of England.

California's Club Women Perfecting Next Year's Plans For State Work

WHILE Tuesday Afternoon Club officers, chairmen and curators are developing plans for the coming year's activity, officers and chairmen of the California Federation and various District Federations are engaged in like work. The success and progress of the smaller club units are reflected in the organization of the state and District Federations and consequently the interests of one are the interests of all.

The Tuesday Afternoon club, being recognized as one of the liveliest units of state and district organization, is, of course, interested in the recent announcement by Mrs. John C. Urquhart, president of the California Federation, of the complete list of state officers and chairmen. Included in the list are:

President, Mrs. John C. Urquhart; vice-president, Mrs. O. W. March; secretary, Mrs. H. M. Tenney; recording secretary, Mrs. Mollie Bloom Flag; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. F. Boesch; parliamentarian, Mrs. Charles McKelvey; treasurer, Mrs. George A. Riggs; auditors, Mrs. George W. Turner and Mrs. F. W. Haman. District presidents, Alameda, Mrs. Elton Warner; San Francisco, Mrs. E. J. Wales; Los Angeles, Mrs. Charles H. Toll; northern, Mrs. Lydia Lawhead; San Joaquin, Mrs. L. P. Mitchell; southern, Mrs. Kenneth J. Oliver.

List of Chairmen
Department chairmen, citizenship, Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer; community service, Miss Jennie Partridge; co-operation, Mrs. V. Wordeman; home economics, Mrs. W. W. Goodrich; home extension, Mrs. Clarence H. Haring; history and landmarks, Miss Ada Obleyer; conservation, Mrs. Robert Fisher; birds and wild life, Mrs. F. T. Bicknell; redwood and memorial grove, Mrs. Russell J. Waters; country life, Mrs. Hope Tubburn Johnson; information and library, Mrs. J. S. Trewhella; art, Mrs. R. Clarkson Colman; literature, Mrs. Henry Goodell; legislation, Mrs. Aaron Schloss; press, Mrs. L. P. Boyce; child welfare, Dr. M. Bertola; industry, Mrs. Frank Boren; public health, Mrs. Hamilton Riggs; Indian welfare, Mrs. Mabel Childberg; international relations, Mrs. Seward Simons; emblem, Mrs. Frank Wagner; endorsement, Mrs. J. E. Haffner; federation extension, Mrs. Charles Wiley.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll and her officers and chairmen of the Los Angeles district, are also busy formulating plans for the coming year. According to Mrs. Cora M. Dunn, corresponding secretary, the Los Angeles district directory is to go to press before September 24.

Berlin Opens First Modern 'Gas' Station

BERLIN, July 30.—The first modern "gas station" in Berlin has just been opened. And now, instead of having his "benzene" served out of a bucket, the Berlin autoist can, if he is willing to travel far enough, fill his tank out of a rubber hose. The German capital's lone modern gas station, unlike its American counterpart, works like a soda fountain or beer tap. The attendant just turns a cock, and the gasoline pours forth, forced out by the compressed carbonic acid gas which the stringent Berlin fire laws require every gasoline tank to contain as a protection against the danger of explosion.

Only one other such filling station is in operation in Germany, at Hanover. Throughout the rest of the Reich gas comes in a pail.

Insane Girl Inherits Valuable Oil Lands

GUYSVILLE, Ohio, July 30.—Unique litigation, involving more than three acres of land in Rome township, this county, has just ended here. The land, long regarded as worthless, recently became valuable because of development of oil and gas wells on adjoining land. About seventy-five years ago the land was owned by Cornelius Maydole, who was married five times but left no children. A grandniece, insane for twenty years, has been awarded, through her guardian, part of the land. The award was made by the court here.

Seeks Hubby She Set Up as Auto Broker

HACKENSACK, N. J., July 30.—Mrs. Vera Twite, of this city, is seeking her husband, Austin Andrew Twite, who, she says, disappeared March 12 last, after she had financed an automobile brokerage for him. They were married in November, 1918, while Twite was in the army, stationed at Camp Merritt.

She described him as 30 years old, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds, with brown hair, full face and scars on the right eyebrow and under the chin. When not wearing his tortoise shell glasses he appears slightly cross-eyed, she says.

SOON TO START PRINTING PLANT

B. S. Bernard and His Son,
Victor M. Bernard, to Establish Business

B. S. Bernard and son, Victor M. Bernard, have located in Glendale and will engage in a printing and advertising business. The Bernards are southerners, coming originally from Florida, where they published The Pensacola Journal and also The Meridian, Mississippi, Dispatch.

After disposing of these newspaper properties, Bernard, Sr. accepted a position as advertising manager of The New Orleans Daily States, during which time his son, Victor, was assistant advertising manager of The Maison-Blanche, probably the largest department store in the entire south.

The Bernards, however, heard the call of the west and about six years ago came to California and located in Fresno, where B. S. Bernard was advertising manager of The Fresno Herald and The Fresno Republican, while his son was advertising manager of The Co-Operative Californian, of that city.

The fame of Glendale reached them and they decided to come here and cast their lot in this city. The Bernard & Son plant is now in the process of erection and will be ready for operation in a very short time.

Hold Examinations of Postoffice Typists

Examinations are being held monthly in the different large cities of California to fill vacancies that exist in the various post-offices for men and women stenographers and typists, the present need of the department in this state now being one hundred men and women. Salaries range from $1080 to $1440, and particulars can be secured from any postoffice as to the needs of the positions.

Inspector Coming to Open Postoffice Bids

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson was advised this morning that Inspector Harry B. Hall of San Francisco will be here on August 6 to open bids for the proposed new postoffice that is to be established here.

BACK REALTY BROKER

The Wingate Disappearance

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Wardtown's one great mystery was that of the disappearance of Henry Wingate. Before it was solved there were many adventures and the whole town was impressed into service. For a time, at least, the name of the unassuming Henry was on every tongue.

It started when Henry arrived home from his office late one evening and found his wife just finishing what remained of a modest dinner.

"I have told you so many times to let me know when you plan to be late," she said, "that I have resolved there will be no more meals kept warm in the oven. I am sorry, but the dinner is gone."

Henry looked helplessly at the table. Then he put on his hat.

"If there is no dinner for me in my own house," he announced, "I will go elsewhere."

As quarrels go, this was the most serious that had ever befallen the Wingates. As Henry strode off his anger lessened, and as the wife looked after him she told herself the lesson had been too severe.

"It was all right for me not to keep his dinner hot," she said, "but I needn't have eaten it all up."

Two hours passed, and Henry did not return. Another went by, and Mrs. Wingate made inquiries. Wardtown was not a place, to all appearance, in which a man might disappear, and yet no one had seen Henry since early in the evening, when he had walked into town. At midnight the search began. Men and women joined.

"I saw him at dinner hour," a waitress at the Green Shutter Restaurant told a group. "He came in just as natural and asked for a rib steak medium, and he ate it solemnly. And to think that after that the earth swallowed him up!"

As the hunt progressed this theory gained weight. There is no railroad in Wardtown and no river. Henry must have wandered off in the forest. Mrs. Wingate wept and reproached herself, while searching parties set out in all directions. The shouts of the men echoed in all the fields and in the woods, awakening dogs, who added their howls to the confusion. In all directions the lanterns of the hunters danced with the swing of arms.

The old men, some of the women, and Mrs. Wingate stayed in town waiting for news, and it was agreed if Henry were found Pop Winans would ring the fire bell. The women drew shawls over their heads and the men slapped their arms across their chests, for it was cold in the early morning hours.

As if the disappearance of Henry Wingate was not enough, a new adventure came with the first hint of daylight. Groups of hunters had returned to make new plans, and the crowd in the street numbered close to fifty. Several men voiced suggestions at once in noisy competition for leadership, then came a mighty crash. Another crash and a rattle of broken dishes followed.

In an instant the crowd was on the alert. Orpitt Knipps, marshal, drew his revolver and stealthily approached the doorway of the Green Shutter. He held the weapon far in front of him and crouched as if trying to hide his entire form behind it. The women drew back and the men scattered to surround the building. Burglars! This was a terrible night.

There came from within a banging on the door of the Green Shutter and Marshal Knipps jumped back. Then the pane of glass leaped out and fell rattling in the street and a form climbed out. Now there was no one to be seen, for Marshall Knipps hid behind a watering trough and the rest pressed back into the shadows.

"Where in thunder am I?" It was Henry Wingate talking to himself in the middle of Main street. Pop Winans ran for the bell, the crowd rushed in, and the Wingate family reunion was celebrated with public rejoicing.

"I guess," said Henry surveying the crowd, "I fell asleep after dinner and got locked in. You see, I had the little table behind the china closet."

Henry Wingate has paid for the broken glass and china. He is never late to dinner any more.

STRAIGHT-LINE PROCKS SMARTLY VARIED

To give a new line to the straight silhouette is an important event in the world of fashion, therefore interest centers about the frock of Princess Mary blue crepe to the left. It is an ideal design for slender figures, the front being trimmed with applied plaits and the sides of the skirt with gathered panels. The embroidery on the belt is in pastel shades of heavy silk. Medium size requires 5½ yards 36-inch material.

The bordered fabrics are well suited to the development of the second dress, which has the panel plaits stitched down as far as the belt front and back, then released below that point. A bit of the border finishes the short sleeves and supplies a touch of trimming for the top of the vestee. Medium size requires 3¾ yards bordered material.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

HOUSES

A woman whom I felt drawn to but did not know very well was visiting me with a mutual friend at my home in the country. Across the way from us a little house has just been built.

My new friend had not been with us a half hour before she said, "Is anyone in that house yet?"

I said there wasn't. "Then," she said, "if you don't mind I'm going over and look in the windows."

I didn't mind. On the contrary I was glad. For I knew that I had found a kindred spirit.

I love houses. Anyone who doesn't may just as well turn to some other part of the paper for I am going to rave about the fascination of houses.

I am still as eager to climb the skeleton steps and prout about over the lumber and kegs of nails in a house that is being built as I was when I was a child and a new house in the neighborhood was a rich source of adventure.

The Inside of Houses

I am forever wishing that I might see the inside of some occupied house whose exterior intrigues me. A man once came up and asked if he might see the inside of our house for that reason, and I welcomed him with a delight that must have surprised him. I was so glad to find someone else had felt that way and had the courage to say so.

I love the stories that houses tell. There's that big Gothic house of 40 years ago with all the fancy work round the eaves.

Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a self-addressed stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

BEAUTY CHATS

There's a lot of dull routine about this business of keeping up one's good looks, or of improving them. For instance, the matter of teeth. Now good teeth do much towards making a good looking face; and perfect teeth will redeem the most homely. But healthy or beautiful teeth (they are the same thing) require a lot of care.

First of all, they must be brushed twice a day, the morning brush preferably after breakfast. The ideal may be to brush them after every meal, but like most ideals, this is rather hard to live up to. Twice a day, thoroughly, the brush being used up and down and well over the gums, with a good tooth paste or powder, and you are safely near the ideal of mouth cleanliness. However, if you've been eating a lot of fruit and you have a tendency to acid mouth, try to wash out the mouth afterward with a little bicarbonate of soda and water.

If you've throat trouble, gargle with antiseptics, and then rinse out the mouth with peroxide and water. If you've a tendency to loose teeth, rub the gums daily or twice a day with tincture of myrrh. If you've tartar (everybody, I think, has some) make a paste of a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, the good kind from a chemist's, and as much citric acid as will go on a ten-cent piece. Moisten with a few drops of water to form a paste, rub absorbent cotton around an orange wood stick, dip in this and rub well around the teeth, especially towards the gums, and rinse out. I may as well warn you that this is only for light cases of tartar, and sensitive teeth may ache a trifle from the powders. Once every six months the dentist should remove all tartar from your teeth for you, getting up under the gums where the worst tartar is, and removing it all. If this is well done, you will never have pyorrhea.

Lonesome:—Moles on the face should not be touched except by a skin specialist. They are usually not at all becoming as they make the rest of the skin look clearer by contrast. Use tweezers to ex-

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. ## Diet and Health

Fruits should be part of the daily diet for all of us. We have long known the value of lemons and oranges as a preventive of scurvy, but it is only in recent years that we have realized the importance of fruits as a daily part of the diet rather than as an occasional treat. Fruits are a splendid source of vitamins, especially the anti-scurbutic (scurvy) vitamins. They are also valuable sources of mineral salts.

Fruits are not only a delicious food but they act as a stimulant to the digestive juices and to the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, thereby acting more or less as a laxative. (The cellulose that fruit contains also helps the intestinal movements.) They also have an antiseptic action and help to prevent putrefaction.

The sugars of fruits are the most easily digested of the sugars and they are practically ready for immediate absorption. Their juices are especially valuable in fevers.

While most fruits have an acid reaction, their salts when oxidized in the body yield the alkaline salts, and in this way help to maintain the normal alkalinity of the body. The only fruits that are listed as an exception in having this alkaline effect are the grapes, prunes and cranberries.

alone, that ever your eyes could meet.

So whenever I go to Suffern, along the Erie track, I never go by the empty house without stopping and looking back.

Yet it hurts me to look at the crumbling roof and the shutters falling apart. For I can't help thinking the poor old house is a house with a broken heart.

The moss grown statesman about women having the last word and the frequent allusion to lead in conversation come in serious contradiction when the story of Miss Reba Hurn is considered. This young woman, elected from the Seattle district to the Washington State Senate, has adhered rigidly to her resolution not to deliver a single speech during her first term in the body.

She has, however, been extremely busy on several committees and has earned the reputation of being one of the most useful legislators in her state. So splendid an impression did she make at the session they presented it with a platinum and diamond pin which seems to indicate that Washington at least silence something else besides golden.

In Seattle Miss Hurn has a reputation of being a capable and successful lawyer.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 30.—Liquid gold has transformed Luling, Texas, from a sleepy little hamlet of 500 souls into a bustling, hustling municipality of approximately 5,000 inhabitants—almost overnight.

It was all brought about when the "folly" of two youths from San Marcos, Texas, proved to be a golden dream. What was said to be a "dry hole" in oil country land, came in as a gusher of the black fluid over the crown block of the well.

With the first spout and roar of the oil transformation of the little village began. Hitching posts, formerly the anchorage of sleepy-eyed bronchos and family buggies, furnished parking space for gasoline buggies, ranging from the $5,000 variety to the flivver of the independent lease-worker. Each train on the Southern Pacific railroad disgorged cargoes of wild-eyed scouts for big oil companies and human freight hunting set-rich-quick snags.

Main street, which formerly boasted of only one or two stores of the general variety, has blossomed forth with all-night restaurants and cabarets. The scratchy phonograph in George Harrison's general store, meeting place and postoffice of the community, has been drowned out by the raucous ones of the quarter-in-the-slot pianos of the dance halls that came like the dew in the night.

Prices of the most necessary commodities have soared. Where before money conversation dealt in pennies, nickels and dimes, talk is now of hundreds, thousands

"I know, my dear," said Billy, and I beg your pardon for using such language before so refined a host as you are. I think," he continued, "that in about half an hour the gypsies will all be so busy eating breakfast that they won't notice if we slip away. We better begin to chew our ropes in two." And so the two chewed or dear life until the ropes were so near through that a good strong tug would tear them apart.

Billy and Nannie waited until all the gypsies had their backs turned and were busy eating their breakfasts before they attempted to steal away. A steep hill on which grew a lot of low shrubs helped them very much, and they hid in this between the gypsies and themselves immediately. Not a single dog barked to give the alarm. Perhaps they were really glad to see them go after the roasting and butting they had had.

Not many miles past the gypsy camp Billy and Nannie entered a small town, and on the outskirts they saw a man sprinkling his lawn. The water looked so cool and refreshing to the tired, hot travelers that they decided to get a drink then and there. They never doubted but that the man would gladly give them a drink, especially as Billy knew how to drink from a stream coming out of a hose. A fireman had once taught him, and all the men had thought it great sport to watch Billy get a drink that way.

So, without fear, he trotted up to the man and turned his head to one side to let the stream of water run through his mouth. But this man, being a cross, disagreeable, crusty fellow, who hated animals and goats in particular, jerked the hose back and turned the full force of the stream into Billy's face, blinding him for a minute.

"So you are that kind of a man, are you?" said Billy to himself. "Very well! I'll show you what you'll get for being so uncharitable that you can't give a goat a drink." And with a toss of his head to shake the water out of

RADIO

A COURSE IN RADIO

Transformers
ALTERNATING current is fed into transformers at various frequencies, which range from 60 to 500 cycles. Transformers are wound for various frequencies. The current from the alternator, increasing and decreasing in value, flows through the primary of the transformer first in one direction and then in the other. This change causes a varying magnetic flux to flow through the secondary windings, including either a high or low voltage current, depending on the ratio of turns in the secondary to those of the primary. If the primary current is 10 amperes and the voltage 10, the power would be their product, or 100 watts. The power at the secondary terminals would be less than 100 watts depending on the efficiency of it. The current at the secondary would be small, as the voltage increases proportionately.

Audio Frequency Transformers
Interval, or audio frequency transformers are designed to transfer the audio frequency impulses from one tube to the next for amplification of the signal. After the incoming signal (radio frequency) has been rectified by the detector the amplifying process can be carried on through several stages, but common practice has been to use 2 and sometimes 3 stages. This is desirable where loud speakers are used.

This type of transformer usually has a ratio of 1 to 10, although they run from 1 to 3 to 1 to 30. Figures 1 and 2 show two views of a popular make of audio frequency transformer. The amount of energy available at the telephone receivers or loud speaker is not always sufficient to operate them satisfactorily. The radio frequency transformer has proven to be an efficient method of transferring energy from the aerial circuit to the detector when the current for long distance reception is too weak to properly actuate the detector. The principal parts of their design is to obtain a good working range in wave lengths. Quite a number will operate efficiently on one wave length. Some of the first type of transformers would operate very good on 360 meters but would not function on 485. Radio frequency transformers are now built that will operate from 200 to 600 meters, covering amateurs, broadcasting and commercial work. They are designed along three lines, air core, closed iron core and open iron core. They are usually built with a 1 to 1 ratio of No. 40 wire on both windings.

Special transformers for reducing house current are being used to light filaments. Modulation and microphone transformers ment is produced by a generator when the current is taken from the armature by means of slip rings. Figure 3 shows a simple dynamo using a commutator instead of the slip rings, when equipped with a commutator it produces direct current. The function of the commutator is to vary the connection of the brushes to the armature coils in such a way that the current in the external circuit flows in one direction only. The drawing shows one armature coil and two semi-circular segments. As the number of armature coils increase the number of segments increase. The segments are insulated from each other by mica, which prevents them from short-circuiting. The principal parts of a dynamo are: Armature coils, field magnets, commutator, brushes, commutator and brushes. Some toy dynamos are made without field winding but in practical machines field windings are essential. Motors are made in various sizes and their construction varies for the work to be done. Briefly, motors are classed as series, shunt and compound. This refers to their field windings.

POINTERS
A two slide tuning coil is more flexible than a one slider. When using a soft tube as a detector a variable B battery is a necessity for best results. If you use the same B battery for detector and amplifier it is doing double duty.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FLOOD
It was raining in Woodland where Uncle Wiggily and the other animal folk lived. Down pelted the big drops of rain, splashing and splashing on the green moss around the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman.

Uncle Wiggily took from the front hall his coat made of leaves from the rubber plant.

"Surely, you are not going out in all this rain," squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Oh, yes, I am!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he made a low and polite bow to his muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Why, it's a regular flood!" exclaimed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You may be drowned!"

"Not in my rubber plant coat," spoke the bunny. "But don't worry, Nurse Jane. I am only going a little way—just over to see Mrs. Littletail, the rabbit lady. I want to find out how Sammie likes his new burrow, or underground house, that I helped him dig."

"I think you will find Sammie in his mother's house," said Nurse Jane. "He wouldn't be off by himself in this flood."

"We shall see," remarked Uncle Wiggily, and he hopped out into the pelted storm, being kept dry by his rubber plant coat. On his way through the woods Uncle Wiggily saw the Fuzzy Fox, and the rabbit gentleman crouched down low to the ground.

"I hope the bad chap doesn't come to nibble my ears," whispered the bunny uncle to himself. But, very luckily, the Fox had caught a raindrop in each eye and couldn't see Uncle Wiggily. So Mr. Longears came safely through the downpour to the home of Mrs. Littletail.

"Where is Sammie?" he asked. "Oh, out in his new burrow that you helped him dig," answered the rabbit lady. "He is playing that he lives there."

"That's good," said Uncle Wiggily, for he knew that soon it would be time for the rabbit boy to grow up and have a home of his own. But just then Sammie came hopping in through the rain. "Oh, hello, Uncle Wiggily!" he cried, shaking the drops of water off his nose. "My burrow is fine and it doesn't leak a bit."

"That's good!" answered Mr. Longears. "Did you leave your sister Susie out there alone?" "Oh, no," answered Sammie. "Susie dug her own burrow after I dug mine. She's out in it now, playing house with Jennie Chipmunk. And what do you think, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Uncle Wiggily," answered the rabbit lady, "make a back door and a front door to her burrow, as you made me do. She said one door was enough. It was too much work to dig two doors, she said."

"She did?" cried Uncle Wiggily, and a strange look came over his face. "That's bad! I must go out to her at once!"

"Why?" asked Mrs. Littletail. "Isn't Susie all right?" "Not in this flood!" answered

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily," said Susie, as she and Jennie dried themselves in Mrs. Littletail's house. "Next time I'll do as Sammie did, and have two doors to my house." And she did.

"Then the rain stopped, the sun shone and everybody was happy except the Fox, who had no ears to nibble. And if the broom doesn't try to dance on one leg instead of sweeping the piano, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the beach crew."

Timely Views of World Topics

"WOMEN OF AMERICA CAN SAVE EUROPE—END ALL WARS"

"The women of America can save Europe. It is in their power to avert another world conflagration if they will act before the gathering resentment abroad makes intervention by this country unacceptable and before Europe slides into complete chaos." So declares Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, noted suffrage leader and prominent international woman's organizations.

"Once women have talked things over and made up their minds," said Mrs. Catt recently, "it is doubtful whether men ever go against them. Men may not have much respect for women's judgment, and they may not realize just why they are acting as they do, but they follow the prompting of women when it is from a matured and united opinion."

"It was never the business of women to attend war. They never invited war nor counseled war nor declared war. Men were the belligerent sex, women were the conserving sex, and women fared better when there was no war. When they talked things over, it was always with the thought of saving life and property and happiness, and men came to think of them and of their advice in that way. They came to be recognized by every one as the complete power, but the power was never utilized in a constructive way."

"Now men all over the world are coming to sense this force. They are turning to women in the hope that they will make use of it."

"In every country of Europe there are men who are tremendously interested in solving the present difficulties and in finding a way out without the use of force. I mean by that not merely an armed force; I mean intimidation and economic force. But these men feel their own helplessness in the face of the governments that have been set up. They realize that the solution does not lie with politicians. And so without exception they have turned to women, because they know that women have the instinct which is needed in this crisis, although they have never made use of it."

"The woman's movement is the only united movement in the world today. The women of America have a chance now to show whether they are merely voters by legislative enactment or have the higher qualities of statesmanship. But they have no time to lose. Unless they act promptly the opportunity will have passed."

Two Big Reasons
"There are two reasons for this: One is the rapid decline of Europe; if relief does not come soon conditions will have reached such a pass that relief will be too late. The other is, to my mind, the saddest thing I saw over there—the changed opinion regarding this country. It was a disappointment that we hadn't seen the war through. We had gone in at last, we had won it, and then we had quit. They couldn't understand why. Explanations were given by the correspondents in the magazines and the daily press, but I doubt whether Europe could understand those explanations, and I am sure we couldn't."

"Rapidly this disappointment is turning into resentment."

ZONE COMMITTEE PLANS APPROVED

Planning Commission Will Examine Changes at Public Hearing

The recommendations of the zoning committee, composed of members of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce and Realty Board, approved by the main body of the Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting and to be submitted to the Los Angeles Planning Commission at the public hearing of Friday, August 3, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, are as follows:

1. That the district south of Rock Glen avenue between the westerly city limits and Douglas avenue be changed from zone "A" to zone "B."
2. The property bounded on the east by line 150 feet west of Valley drive, on the north by a line 150 feet south of Colorado boulevard, on the west by a line along the rear of lots which are located on the south side of College View avenue, on the south by a line along the rear of the lots located on the south side of Park avenue, be changed from zone "B" to zone "A." See petition marked "Exhibit A."
3. That the property north of Sycamore, east of Valley drive to a point 120 feet west of Central avenue, which is at an alley, and bounded on the north by the rear line of the lots facing on Sycamore street, be changed from zone "C" to zone "B."
4. East Sycamore from Pinehurst and the extension thereof to Floristan and the extension thereof on both sides of the street and 150 feet back from the street be changed from zone "A" to zone "C."

That, Townsend avenue, bounded on the north by Fairview on the east side and Forrest on the west side, and on the south by Sycamore avenue, and two lots deep on each side, be changed from zone "A" to zone "B."

That, Lots 29 and 30 of block 1, Floristan Heights tract, be changed from zone "A" to zone "C."

That, Lots 12, 13 and 14 of Townsite tract be changed from zone "A" to zone "C."

That, Colorado boulevard, between Hartwick and Victoria, on the south side, be changed from zone "B" to zone "C."

That, Colorado boulevard, between Eagle Rock road and the extension of Dean street into the southerly side of Colorado boulevard, be changed from zone "B" to zone "C."

That, The north side of Colorado boulevard, between Hartwick, Dean street, be changed from zone "B" to zone "C."

The desire of the committee, they state, has been to render the best decisions possible, for the good of the community as a whole.

FILES COMPLAINT AGAINST DRIVER

Owner of Amusement Park
Is Injured in Crash With Large Touring Car

Judge W. W. Wilcox of Tujunga has issued a complaint against Elton K. Niskern of 1553 Husted street, Los Angeles, charging reckless driving as a result of a collision between their two machines on Michigan avenue near Hillhaven road.

Niskern was driving a large touring car and both it and the small machine driven by Mr. Wilcox were badly damaged. Mr. Wilcox was severely bruised and shaken up, but Niskern and his companions, who gave their names as R. B. English, building contractor, 2025 Avon street, Los Angeles, and Lloyd S. Platt, Wilcox building, Los Angeles, escaped without injury.

According to a report made to Constable Ed McCarty, Niskern was driving east on Michigan avenue at a fast rate of speed, on the wrong side of the road and apparently under the influence of the juice that cheers. Mr. Wilcox was driving west toward Sunland after closing the Garden of the Moon, of which he is the proprietor, for the night. He saw the large car coming toward him and turned his machine off into the bank at the side of the boulevard. The larger car driven by Niskern plunged into it, swerved into the bank and stopped.

The warrant was issued for the arrest of Niskern by Justice of the Peace Harry Chase in Glendale and sent to Los Angeles for service.

John Gutierrez, 20, surveyor's chairman, was arrested on the dance floor of the Garden of the Moon Wednesday night by Deputy Sheriffs Rankin and Marty and lodged in the county jail on a grand larceny charge. Deputy Constable McCarty of Tujunga assisted the county officers.

Gutierrez is believed to be one of a gang of auto thieves that has been operating in southern California for several months. When arrested, he was in possession of a sedan car, alleged to have been stolen from A. E. Tuck, 1127 Gordon street, Los Angeles.

Paul De Arman of 162 Walnut drive has returned from a visit with relatives in Topeka, Kan., and Colorado Springs, Colo. W. H. De Arman and Miss Blanche Stewart, a relative of the family, are visiting here.

The Mission grocery at El Centro and Michigan avenue is being enlarged by an addition that is being constructed by Jeffries & Jeffries, contractors. They also have under construction a residence for Mr. Martingale at 124 Pine street.

Will Repay Political Debt With Gift Villa

TOKIO, July 30.—Payment of a political debt by presentation to his political benefactor of a villa valued at ¥20,000 ($15,000) is former Education Minister T. Nakahashi's idea of a fair return. When the Seiyukai party was reorganized last year in connection with the Cabinet reconstruction problem, Nakahashi and another prominent Tokyo politician were expelled from the party. After several months of work on the part of General Viscount Kanji Miura, Privy Councillor and close friend of Nakahashi, the latter was reinstated in the Seiyukai. Now Nakahashi is completing a gift villa on Lake Nojiri, a beautiful summer resort in southern Japan, for Viscount Miura.

Seventeen Millions in N. Y. State Income Tax

ALBANY, July 30.—Checks totaling $17,500,000 were sent out early this month by the state tax commission to the county treasurers as the counties' share of the 1922 collections from the personal income tax.

This is approximately twenty-five per cent more than the counties received from the 1921 income tax moneys. Total amount distributed among the counties last year was $14,000,000.

The five counties, Bronx, Kings, New York, Queens and Richmond, comprising Greater New York receive a total of $11,857,152.

Title Men to Meet At Yosemite Valley

Members of the California Land Title Association will convene at Yosemite Lodge August 3 and 4, for their sixteenth annual convention. President Donzel Stoney of San Francisco will preside. About 100 title and abstract men, accompanied by their wives, will attend. The last half day of the convention will be given over to sightseeing in the valley.

Two caravans of machines containing title men will converge at Merced and Fresno, the delegates from the north leaving Merced Thursday morning, August 2, for the valley; the delegates from the south will remain over night at Fresno and enter the valley August 2.

Among the speakers at the convention will be Henry E. Monroe, San Francisco; William S. Porter, Santa Barbara; W. N. Glasscock, San Bernardino; R. F. Chilcott, San Jose; Hugh S. Gordon, Santa Cruz; Herbert V. Keeling, Lakeport; Frank Turk, Los Angeles; John F. Keogh, Los Angeles; W. H. Akin, director California Real Estate Association, and Glenn D. Willaman, editor California Real Estate.

LABOR SAVERS SHOWN

The Power and Transportation show, now in progress in Los Angeles, on the grounds adjoining Rogers' Airport, Wilshire boulevard, will be of interest to contractors and builders because of the many new labor-saving ideas revealed. The show opened July 15 and continues until July 22.

BURBANK

LOAN FIRM WILL BUILD NEW HOME

Central Location Bought as Site for Building on San Fernando Road

The Burbank Building & Loan association has purchased a centrally located lot, just north of San Fernando road, on the east side of Olive avenue, and will erect thereon a building, to occupy a frontage of fifty feet and contain three rooms.

Meanwhile, the Burbank Building & Loan association will remove its offices from the Farmers & Merchants bank to the Security Trust & Savings bank, to enable the former institution to remodel for the extension of their business.

When the new headquarters of the association are completed, one room will be used for the office and the other two rooms will be leased.

The future of Olive avenue as a business section is exceptionally good, say those who are in touch with developments in this direction.

LAVISH LOVE ON SHINY GOLDFISH

Apartment Houses Bar All
Babies, so Flat Dwellers
Turn to Minnow

BLUEBIRD POINT, Minn., July 30.—Barred from keeping babies, dogs and cats in apartments, city-dwelling Americans have turned to the goldfish. Upon this flamboyant minnow is being lavished all of the affection that is denied its usual objects by city restrictions.

This came to light when the Grassforks fisheries, near this city, announced plans for raising five million goldfish next year. Heart-hungry flat dwellers will snap up the five million as soon as the fish are large enough to leave the breeding ponds, officials of the fisheries company predicted.

The goldfish is an ideal city pet, according to Dwight S. Ritter, distribution manager. Clean? Why, it lives in water. It is quiet and companionable and gives a home atmosphere to two rooms and a kitchenette that can be equaled by nothing but a rubber plant.

The local hatchery is a virtual goldfish trust, supplying more than 60 per cent of the goldfish sold in the United States. The fish are raised in 170 ponds covering seventy-five acres. Some of the large ponds contain 250,000 fish, it is estimated.

Ten varieties of fish are raised, including the common goldfish, the Japanese fan and nymph, the American fantail, the Chinese moor and telescope, the Oranda, the Lion Head and the Calico. The common fish are not allowed to mingle with the more aristocratic varieties, but are kept in separate ponds.

Caring for the fish occupies the entire time of a number of men. The fish are fed a mixture of ground meal, middlings and oats, prepared in a special kitchen. An average of sixty-five wash tubsful of this is fed to the fish every day.

very well, but it is said that the groom is not at all fluent in Danish.

William Gibbs McAdoo, a leading citizen of the United States and a presidential possibility, sent his greetings to the Mystic Smilers, in convention here recently, expressing his regret at being unable to join them and assuring them: "I am delighted you have organized a movement which promises such benefits to those who will live up to the ideals and high standards adopted by the Order of the Mystic Smile."
